Belgian Paratroopers Leave Seething Congo

Fear Expressed For 500 Whites In Rebel Areas

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Belgian paratroopers pulled out of the Congo on Sunday after rescuing 1,700 white hostages from Congolese rebels. But fears were expressed here for the safety of 500 or more foreigners still in rebel territory.

Diplomatic sources in Leopoldville said one more air drop of the Belgians had been planned — most likely at Bunia where several hundred foreigners are believed trapped.

In a note Sunday to the Soviet Union — rejecting a Soviet charge of aggression — Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said the fact that the paratroopers had pulled out was evidence that Belgium had no desire to reconquer its former Congo territory, as the Russians had charged.

Hostage Death Toll 85

Reports from refugees coming out of rebel territory tell of maddened rebels, who fled the Belgians at Stanleyville and Paulis last week, being intent upon murdering all whites they could get their hands on.

At least 500 and possibly as many as 1,000 whites still are in rebel areas. They range from groups of several hundred in Bunia to single missionaries or plantation managers far from any important communities.

The death toll of white hostages now stands at 85.

In Brussels, the Belgian Defense Ministry said the paratroopers were flown to Ascension Island in the South Atlantic for their return to Brussels on Tuesday.

The paratroopers took off from Kamina air base, from which they launched their rescue operation last Tuesday, in U. S. Air Force planes.

Refugee Flow Continues

The refugees they saved — in many cases by minutes — continued to flow out of the former rebel territory and back to their homelands bearing more nightmarish tales of atrocity, torture and death.

About 600 Belgian soldiers took part in the rescue drops on the rebel capital of Stanleyville and then Paulis, 225 miles

Mars-Bound Craft Picks Wrong Star

Mariner Chooses Wrong Guidepost; Flight Not Periled

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Spacecraft Mariner 4 chose the wrong celestial body Sunday as its heavenly guidepost toward Mars, but scientists expected to bring their wayward marvel firmly back on course.

"It was expected this could happen. It certainly doesn't jeopardize the mission or the spacecraft," said a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where Mariner 4 was built.

An Atlas-Agena booster hurled the spaceship from Cape Kennedy, Fla., on Saturday on a 7½-month, 325-million-mile voyage to the vicinity of Mars.

If all goes well, the craft will televise up to 22 pictures of the Martian surface from about 10,000 miles away during a 30-minute flyby next July and send them back to earth.

Data For Other Flights

Instruments will measure radiation in space, cosmic rays and micrometeorites.

The information will help engineers construct life-seeking capsules which the United States hopes to land on Mars in 1969.

Tumbling through space at 7,000 miles an hour, Mariner 4 began a star acquisition maneuver, on command of its built-in computer, 16 hours and 37 minutes after launch.

Its sensor, a photoelectric device that distinguishes objects by light intensity, was supposed to lock on the star Canopus.

This star, visible in winter just over the southern U.S. horizon, is second in brightness only to Sirius to man's unaided eye.

Star Chosen Unidentified

Canopus, pronounced Can-o'-pus, is 1,900 times brighter than the sun. It's the rudder in the Southern Hemisphere's vast constellation Argo.

Instead of Canopus, Mariner 4's sensor chose another celestial body, which Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists were trying to identify Sunday.

"The star sensor, sweeping through the sky, sees a lot of stars so it was expected it could react to the wrong one," a laboratory spokesman said.

"That star is in such a position that maybe by tonight its intensity will diminish in the eye of the spacecraft so that the sensor will reject the star."

Or scientists could order Mariner to make a new rolling search for Canopus.

87 Arrested As Mourners Defy Regime

Soldiers Move In When Procession Becomes Sitdown

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese paratroopers swinging rifle butts waded into a Buddhist funeral procession Sunday after it turned into a sitdown demonstration against the government of Premier Van Tran Huong. There also were anti-U.S. overtones.

The funeral was for a 15-year-old boy whom the Buddhists claimed was shot to death by government forces during an antigovernment demonstration last week. After clashing with about 2,000 demonstrators, the paratroopers seized the coffin, shoved the boy's family into a hearse and took them off to the cemetery.

The new show of force by Huong's forces is expected to trigger even more violence in Saigon's streets and widen the breach between Huong's civilian regime and the powerful Buddhist organization.

Many of the demonstrators ran off with bloodied heads but there were no reports of any serious casualties.

87 Arrested

The paratroops arrested 87 demonstrators, including four women. The males were expected to be drafted into the army, now fighting the Communist Viet Cong in the field.

The army said afterward it suspected the Viet Cong had incited the mourners to turn the funeral into another demonstration against Huong. Police said one of the arrested men had Viet Cong connections.

About 1,500 paratroopers moved in on the demonstrators as they sat in the middle of the street and refused to move. The demonstrators were protesting the seizure of a truck in the procession which the army said carried knives, clubs and grenades. The occupants were arrested.

Despite martial law regulations imposed Wednesday, the government told the Buddhists it would permit a funeral procession for the boy, Le Van Ngoc. But it stipulated that the number of participants be limited to 200 and that they should follow along in vehicles on a route avoiding the center of Saigon.

2,000 Veer To New Route

The procession, however, started out with 2,000 marchers and a horse-drawn hearse carrying the body. Paratroopers first moved in when the procession veered from its prescribed route and attempted to head for the center of Saigon.

Along the way, the procession stopped, apparently by coincidence, in front of the Saigon home of U.S. Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and a speaker delivered a eulogy for the dead youth. There was no evidence that the marchers knew they were in front of Johnson's home.

Mrs. Johnson was at home but her husband's whereabouts were not known.

As they paraded, students distributed leaflets denouncing U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor — who is now in the United States for talks with President Johnson — as "a supressor of the Vietnamese people" because of his support for Huong.

Holiday Traffic Toll Passes 500

By The Associated Press

The death toll on the nation's streets and highways mounted steadily Sunday as the four-day Thanksgiving holiday went into its final hours.

Rain in New England and the northern Pacific coast and snow in a widespread area of the Midwest and north-central section added to the traffic hazards. The Weather Bureau issued hazardous driving warnings for portions of several states.

Since The Associated Press started the four-day Thanksgiving weekend count at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, 507, persons have been killed on the streets and highways of the United States. The 102-hour period ended at midnight Sunday.

Antipoverty Program To Roll In January

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver said Sunday that President Johnson's antipoverty program will begin to roll in January when 22 Job Corps camps will be under construction, the first camps will open and up to 25,000 volunteers may be enrolled.

Shriver, director of the effort to lift 35 million Americans out of deep economic distress, said 400,000 to 500,000 persons will be affected directly by the program in its first year and it will reach millions indirectly.

Interviewed on NBC's radio and television show "Meet the Press," he contended this would be done although only $947.5 million has been appropriated in the 1965 bookkeeping year and the initial outlay calls for expending just $35 million on 120 projects.

Soviet Workers Repair Damage To Embassies

MOSCOW (UPI) — Workmen Sunday repaired damages to the American, British, Belgian and Congolese embassies attacked by mobs of Afro-Asian students protesting airborne operations in the Congo to rescue white hostages from Congolese rebels.

Spokesmen indicated the four countries expected the Soviet Union to foot the bill for the repairs.

Fur-batted Russians were busy during the freezing afternoon at the U.S. Embassy sealing 56 smashed windows with sheets of plywood.

"We have informed the Soviet foreign ministry we are going to submit a bill and demand compensation," a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

"Yes, we expect the Russians to pay," said a British spokesman, referring to the 37 windows smashed during the demonstration Saturday at the British building across the Moscow River from the Kremlin.

A Belgian Embassy spokesman said more than 100 windows in the building probably were broken by the riotous mobs.

"This time we don't expect to get any bill from the Russians for repairs," the spokesman said. "But in a way we were lucky—the students didn't throw ink bottles at our embassy as they did at the Americans."

BANGUI, Central African Republic (AP) — Dr. Paul Carlson, American medical missionary killed by the Congolese rebels, has been buried beside the church he served in the Congo, his friends reported Sunday.

In addition to Carlson's widow and two children, about 30 whites and 1,000 Congolese attended the ceremonies Saturday at the Congolese Church of Christ of Loubangui, located in the village of Karawa in Loubangui Province.

90th Birthday Greetings Pour In To Churchill

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill smilingly posed for photographers in a window of his London home Sunday, eve of his 90th birthday, as several hundred well-wishers stood outside in a freezing drizzle and cheered and sang birthday greetings.

The wartime prime minister stood there for about three minutes and smiled as he exchanged waves with those outside. Then the curtain drifted back into place and everyone thought he had gone. But, he returned for a curtain call and leaned out the window and got more rounds of applause.

Hundreds of good-will messages from all over the world arrived Saturday and Sunday. Postmen said it was the biggest mail Sir Winston had received on any of his birthdays.

As the greetings poured in, there were a few sour notes. Two new books about Churchill, one by Lewis Broad and another by Sir Isaiah Berlin, were reviewed in London newspapers. Emrys Hughes, a Labor member of Parliament from Wales, entitled his review in the Labor newspaper, Tribune, "The Churchill Myth Exploded."

Hughes said all Churchill did in his last years in Parliament was go to the House, "slump down in his seat with a look of triumph, now look across to his ancient enemies on the opposite bench, look at the order paper and then go to sleep."

Hughes accused Churchill of never doing anything "to raise the standard of living of the British people," of being "a reckless gambler with human lives in the first World War" and of praising Mussolini in 1935 and Hitler only a short after that.

Kingsley Martin, writing in the New Statesman, a left-leaning political weekly, commented in his review of the books: "The time for debunking Winston Churchill is not yet, and when it comes it will not succeed as easily as with other great personages, not that material for criticism is lacking. It is a thousand pities that he did not retire in 1945. But everything will be forgiven him because of 1940."

The big 120-pound family birthday cake ordered by Lady Churchill from Budapest-born pastry cook Marie Floris is due Monday morning.

Mrs. Floris, who is cakemaker of all Queen Elizabeth's birthday cakes and also bakes the royal family's wedding cakes, has been making Sir Winston's birthday pastry for 23 years.

Stampede Fatal To 24

JALAPA, Mexico (UPI) — Twenty-four persons were trampled to death here Sunday when a crowd of about 3,000 rushed for the exit at a boxing stadium.

Thirty-seven persons were injured, some critically, at the stadium in this Vera Cruz state capital.

The crowd had been attending a ceremony sponsored by the League of Agrarian Communities in honor of Vera Cruz Gov. Fernando Lopez Aria when they were invited to a Mexican festival in a local park. Police said the dead and injured were trampled in the rush to get to the festival.

India Rightist Group Calls Off Papal Protests

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Mass arrests and political pressure may have cleared the way Sunday for Pope Paul VI to visit India this week without fear of large-scale Hindu demonstrations marring the longest papal journey in history.

One of two extreme rightist Hindu organizations which have been protesting the pontiff's pilgrimage to Bombay beginning Wednesday, the Jan Sangh, announced it was shelving plans to confront the Pope with screaming protests and black flags.

As part of the deal reached in almost round-the clock negotiations, police agreed to relax restrictions on the movements of Jan Sangh leaders who have been under house arrest since they started denouncing the papal visit and international Eucharistic Congress now under way as a "Catholic invasion" and mass attempt to convert Hindus.

The other militant group considered dangerous, the Hindu Mahasabha, also has called off demonstration plans, according to a state government source.

No confirmation from the Hindu Mahasabha was available. A member who answered the telephone at the Mahasabha office told a newsman he was the only one there and that he could not talk because a policeman was standing beside him.

Pope Seeks Understanding

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said Sunday he prayed that the people of India will understand his trip to Bombay on Wednesday as a sign of brotherhood, esteem and honor.

The pontiff's words seemed to reflect his regret and concern about opposition to his Indian trip by some Hindu groups which have protested his coming and threatened demonstrations.

But his words showed clearly that opposition has not altered his conviction that his visit to India will serve the interests of unity among Christians and fraternity with non-Christians.

U.S. Leaders Called 'Jackals' At Peking Rally

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China staged a massive anti-U. S. demonstration Sunday in expressing support for the Congolese rebels. The demonstrators heard one speaker call American leaders "jackals" and "butchers."

The New China News Agency said the rally, held at Tienanmen — the Gate of Heavenly Peace — Square in the heart of Peking, was jammed with people "in one of the biggest anti imperialist demonstrations ever held in the Chinese capital."

The broadcast heard here said more than 700,000 people poured into the streets just after dawn and blocked traffic on many thoroughfares.

Party Chairman Mao Tze-tung, President Liu Shao-chi and Premier Chou En-lai were among the leaders who attended the rally.

Peng Chen, mayor of Peking, said: "The Chinese people, together with the people of Africa and the rest of the world firmly stand by the Congolese people. We will take all possible measures to support them in their struggle."

Wintry Freeze Grips Midwest

By The Associated Press

The northern Great Plains and parts of the Midwest froze in bitter arctic air that sent temperatures tumbling Sunday.

In front of this new cold blast, a storm in the middle Mississippi Valley clogged highways and roads with one to four inches of snow. It covered roads from southeastern Nebraska through Iowa and northern Missouri to west-central Illinois. Houghton, Mich., reported 18 inches of snow on the ground.

The Weather Bureau warned of hazardous driving conditions from eastern Nebraska across southern Iowa and northern Missouri and west-central Illinois.

The mercury plunged to 29 degrees below zero Sunday morning in Bismarck, capital city of North Dakota. It was the lowest ever recorded in the month of November. The previous record low for the date was -23 in 1875. Temperatures at dawn generally were 10 to 20 degrees below zero in the Dakotas and Minnesota and 5 to 10 above in Nebraska and northern Iowa.

Latin In Mass Gives Way To English; Most Roman Catholics Enthusiastic

By The Associated Press

Millions of American Roman Catholics worshiped in the English language Sunday — instead of the time-honored Latin — as a new liturgy for the Mass took effect.

The reaction of both priest and parishioner, generally, was enthusiastic.

"Thank God for the change," said the Rev. Luke O'Connell of St. Anthony's Shrine, Boston. "It's a beautiful, wonderful way to say Mass.

"It's a terrific social act. The people are now able to see the Mass — see what was hidden before. It's now a unified Mass."

In addition to replacing Latin with English, the new liturgy embodies other changes. The priest now faces the congregation as he celebrates the Mass, instead of turning his back. Worshippers take a more active part in prayers, litanies and hymns.

The reforms were authorized by the Vatican Ecumenical Council in Rome last year.

"It's odd, but it's nice," said Ray Rodgers in Minneapolis, Minn. "It adds something to the Mass but it takes time to get used to."

In Atlanta, Ga., a leading Catholic layman, Superior Court Judge Sam P. McKenzie, commented: "The English Mass is a wonderful thing for Catholics married to non-Catholics. When they go to church together it is easier for them to see the common Christian bond."

The Rev. John McDonough of the Cathedral of Christ the King in Atlanta remarked, "Many people left the church smiling, almost bubbling over, you might say. Both old and young showed a renewed, more vigorous interest."

Some among the nation's almost 45 million Catholics dissented. "I like the old style better," one woman said as she left church in Irvington, N.Y.

Others had minor reservations because of unfamiliarity with the new liturgy.

"It'll take a while to get used to it," said A. J. Bigelback in St. Paul, Minn. "I thought I was in a Protestant church."

The unfamiliarity also was a problem for some priests — remembering to change over from Latin to English.

Old Artillery Shell Explodes, Killing Two

Two other persons were wounded critically when the shell exploded at a ranch house after it was accidentally dropped.

13 Die, 54 Hurt In Greek Bridge Dedication Blast

LAMIA, Greece (AP) — Thirteen persons perished and 54 were injured Sunday in an explosion minutes after the inauguration of a new bridge near this central Greek city.

National police, who gave the casualty figures, said the blast appeared to have been caused by a World War II land mine buried in the earth and detonated by the weight of thousands of people moving in the area.

About 5,000 persons were at the site of the new Gorgopotamon Bridge for the dedication ceremonies. The old bridge was destroyed by British and Greek forces in November 1942 to halt movement of supplies for the invading German armies.

As the crowd was leaving after the dedication ceremony, a terrific blast occurred several hundred yards from the bridge, hurling bodies through the air. The bridge was untouched.

At least 12 of those hurt were national policemen who had been assigned to keep order during the ceremonies.

Authorities in Athens ordered helicopters, ambulances and medical rescue units to the area. The injured lay strewn on the ground screaming for help as rescuers rushed to apply first aid.

The bridge is a symbol of unity among left-wingers in Greece. Its wartime destruction marked the only time British and Greek military forces cooperated with Greek Communist guerrillas in a military maneuver during World War II. Greek leftists contend they were responsible for destroying the bridge.

U.S.-Soviet U.N. Deal Predicted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats predicted Sunday that the Soviet Union and the United States would make a deal to avoid a showdown over Soviet rights when the General Assembly convenes Tuesday.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko scheduled a luncheon meeting Monday. Some diplomats expressed belief that, at that time, both would accept a plan of Secretary-General U Thant's to head off the clash.

U.N. charter Article 19 says any member country two years behind in its dues "shall have no vote" in the assembly. The Soviet Union is two years behind because of refusal on legal and political grounds to pay Congo and Middle-East peacekeeping assessments. The United States says it should not be allowed to vote unless it pays.

Butenko-Ivanov Spy Conspiracy Trial Nears End

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A federal court jury will deliberate soon on the fate of John William Butenko and Igor Ivanov, who were charged with espionage conspiracy after FBI agents swooped down on them at a lonely suburban railroad station more than a year ago.

Butenko, an American electronics engineer of Russian descent, took the witness stand last Thursday and Friday and denied that he took part in an alleged conspiracy to transmit missile base communication secrets to the Soviet Union. Butenko, 39, is a bachelor.

The attorney for Ivanov, 34, has refused to say whether the Soviet chauffeur will testify. He is said to speak little English, and has listened to his own trial with an earphone that gives him a simultaneous translation into Russian.

The case is expected to go to the jury by the end of the week. The judge could impose the death penalty if they are found guilty.

Three Soviet U.N. mission members — particularly one named Gleb Pavlov — figure as mystery men in the espionage trial.

They were named as co-conspirators in the indictment that brought Butenko and Ivanov to trial, but they had been deported to the Soviet Union immediately after their arrest.

Diplomatic immunity protected them from going on trial.

This left Butenko and Ivanov, a chauffeur for the Soviet trade agency Amtorg in New York, to answer for the alleged spy plot.

The government contends that Butenko conspired with the Russians to transmit secrets to the Soviet Union about a missile site communications system. He was control administrator of the project handled for the Air Force by International Electric Corp. of Paramus.

Paper Says "K" Ousted In Once-Postponed Plot

LONDON (AP) — The London Observer said Sunday the Soviet secret police ousted Nikita Khrushchev last month in a carefully laid plot originally intended to take place in July.

A front-page story by the paper's diplomatic staff listed Alexander Shelepin, former chief of the secret police, and Vladimir Semichastny who now heads the KGB — state security committee — as leaders.

Shelepin has just received a top party post and is considered one of the two or three most powerful men in the Soviet Union.

The Observer said these leaders of the plot brought Leonid I. Brezhnev, now Communist party chief, and Alexei N. Kosygin, now Soviet premier, into the scheme by promising them the jobs they now hold — but on a strictly temporary basis.

Khrushchev, the story went on, is now living under house arrest in an apartment building "a bare five minutes' walk from the Kremlin."

The move against Khrushchev was scheduled to be made in July on his return from a Scandinavian tour, the newspaper said, adding that action had to be postponed because the preparations were incomplete.

It went on with this account: Preparations for the coup began soon after a "stand-up row" in the party Presidium early in 1963 between Khrushchev and Frol Kozlov over the handling of the 1962 Cuban crisis with the United States.

Kozlov was hospitalized with a blood clot on the brain May 4, 1963 and has been incapacitated since. He is no longer a member of the party Presidium or Central Committee.

When all preparations were complete in mid-October, Khrushchev was summoned to Moscow for the fateful meeting of the Presidium. The plotters' moment of triumph came when Khrushchev asked to go before the Central Committee.

The organizers of the coup "had already called to Moscow a carefully chosen quorum of the committee" and Khrushchev was immediately taken before the committee, waiting in a nearby Kremlin room, for the vote against him.

Two Missing Children Found

WHITESVILLE, Del. (AP) — Two cold, wet and hungry children were found Sunday after an all-night search by more than 400 persons.

The children — Karen Webb, 6, and her 5-year-old brother, Sammy—got lost in some woods near their home here Saturday afternoon and couldn't find their way out, police said.

Search parties were formed consisting of state police, Delaware National Guardsmen, boy scouts, firemen and volunteers.

One search party, which included Harold Webb, the children's father, came across the missing youngsters about 8 a.m. They were cold, hungry and still wet from several nighttime showers.

The children were taken to Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury, Md. and were examined and released.

Webb, who operates a 130-acre farm, said the children had gone into the woods before, but never that far.

Chased Cyclist Spills, Scorches Seat From Pants

GARY, Ind. (UPI) — A 58-year-old motorcyclist who led police of four cities on a 120 mile an hour chase through two counties said Sunday he didn't know what he was doing.

Albert Sosh, East Gary, Ind., said from his hospital bed that he was sorry.

Sosh was hospitalized with third degree burns after sliding along the pavement and scorching the seat from his trousers.

Police in Gary, East Gary and Hobart, Ind., said Sosh would be charged with speeding, reckless driving and running stop signs. Police at New Chicago, Ind., said they could not place charges against Sosh because he went through the community so fast they couldn't see him. Portage police said they planned no charges.

Patrolman Edward Crabtree spotted Sosh, clad in black leather jacket and motorcycle boots, going 50 miles an hour in a 30 mile zone of Gary and chased him to East Gary. East Gary police had set up a road block on Indiana 51 but Sosh evaded it by circling through a service station.

At Hobart, Ind., Sosh went around another road block, set up by Hobart police, and turned onto busy U. S. 6. He passed from Lake County into Porter County and neared another police road block at Portage. But two miles short of it, Sosh hit a bump and the cycle went on its side, skidding 50 feet.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A St. Marys County man died in a Baltimore hospital Sunday, raising to 11 the state's highway fatality toll for the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The man, Charles Cullison, 64, was fatally injured Saturday when his car hit a tree not far from his home in Scotland, Md. He was taken to University Hospital where he died.

Soviet To Stand Firm In Dispute With Red China

MOSCOW (AP)—High sources said Sunday the Soviet Union has no intention of giving an inch in its bitter quarrel with Communist China.

They said the Kremlin is pressing ahead with plans for a world Communist congress which, Westerners believe, they hope will isolate the Chinese.

Soviet leaders have been greatly angered by Chinese attacks on their internal policies, and these attacks have lessened the possibility of any more direct talks between the Chinese and Russians.

The sources said the world conference will be held in an attempt to bring unity to Communism, but added very firmly that the Soviet Union is not going to change its stand on any point.

These range from abstruse ideological interpretations of Marx to old-fashioned border disputes between the Soviet Union and China.

The sources said the timetable of the world conference has been changed.

A preparatory meeting will not be held beginning Dec. 15 as originally planned. But postponement of it leaves unchanged Soviet long-range thing about China.

The conference is expected by the non-Communist observers to bring a showdown on which Communists support Moscow and which follow Peking's more militant brand of revolutionary communism.

Loopholes In Security Told By Spy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee published Sunday a partial translation of the confessions of a former Swedish spy for the Soviet Union who told of lax security precautions at some U. S. defense plants.

The convicted spy, Col. Stig Eric Constans Wennerstroem, former air attache at the Swedish Embassy here, was sentenced last June 12 in Sweden to a life term for gross espionage.

His confessions described, among other things, his access to information from defense plants. He said these plants — not identified by name — did not even check his claims that he had been cleared for access to secret information, and rarely asked whether he had been cleared.

The translation quoted Wennerstroem as saying he cultivated big shots—and their wives—in government and defense industry, and that this impressed lower-echelon officials and employes. He said he also found it useful to cultivate the friendship of women.

The subcommittee published its own translation of a censored transcript of testimony given by Wennerstroem in interrogations by the Swedish federal police agency. The story had been published widely after his arrest and caused a sensation. The subcommittee made it public without comment and "for the information of senators."

Among other things the document quotes Wennerstroem as saying his Soviet spy bosses told him to quit reporting on military secrets of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization because 'they had contacts in this field which were better than myself."

The transcript described visits he had made to military installations as well as defense plants, and told of a wide circle of acquaintances at the Pentagon which he found helpful in his espionage missions. He told of one occasion when he passed material to his Soviet contact man when both were at the Pentagon.

Virginia Boy Killed In Automobile Crash

HAMBURG, Pa. (AP)—A two-car collision on Route 22 about 10 miles east of this Eastern Pennsylvania community Sunday killed a seven-year-old Virginia boy and injured three members of his family.

The dead boy was identified as Kurt Roinestad, of Winchester.

Listed in guarded condition at Allentown Hospital was his mother, Doris, 33, who suffered lacerations of the head, possible internal injuries, and possible fractured ribs.

The boy's sister, Ellen, 3, suffered a possible fractured left arm. She was listed in satisfactory condition.

Reports circulating here said the paratroopers originally were ordered to search a 40-mile radius of the town for hostages but later were restricted to 20 miles to speed the operation and departure. About 300 refugees left the vicinity of Paulis but another 60 to 100 remain in the area.

Special Md. Anti-Crime Division Recommended

BALTIMORE (AP) — A special legislative committee has recommended that a special criminal division be established in the attorney general's office.

In a report to be submitted to the General Assembly when it meets in January, the committee suggested that the division initially be composed of two lawyers who would work full time on criminal cases and would be prohibited from private practice. Each would be paid $12,000 a year.

The committee said the recommendation was made to relieve the mounting criminal work on the present legal staff resulting from recent Supreme Court decisions.

The report also recommended that legal officers now attached to various state agencies be reassigned to the attorney general's staff and be paid out of the budget of the attorney general. The report suggested these officers now might be shaping their opinions to please department heads rather than on objective reasoning.

Del. Thomas Hunter Lowe, D-Talbot, chairman of the Legislative Council's Committee on Legislative Review, said the State Fiscal Research Bureau and the Department of Legislative Reference should be removed from the executive branch and placed directly under the legislature.

"This transfer will clearly indicate the will of the General Assembly that these are agencies responsible solely to the General Assembly and will obviate any questions as to the actual responsibilities of both agencies," the report said.

Maryland Church-State Court Case Opens Today

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A case contesting the constitutionality of state aid to church-connected colleges opens in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court Monday.

The suit, which may have wide remifications, was brought against Maryland and four colleges. Basically, it challenges federal, state and local aid to any college related to a church.

The suit stems from bond issues totaling $2.5 million approved by the General Assembly to build facilities at Western Maryland College in Westminster, St. Joseph's College in Emmitsburgh, Hood College in Frederick and the College of Notre Dame of Maryland in Baltimore.

Under the broad premises of the suit, however, it could, if upheld, outlaw fellowships, research grants, construction, library aid and a host of related aid programs to church-connected colleges.

The funds challenged by the suit were to provide matching grants to help build three science buildings, a dining hall and a dormitory.

The suit contends the bond issues are in violation of the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which prohibits the establishment of a state religion. It also is charged that taxpayers are being deprived of property without due process of law in violation of the 14th Amendment.

The suit also contends the funds violate two of the Maryland Declaration of Rights: one prohibits compelling taxpayers to contribute to a place of worship and the other forbids allocating public funds for nonpublic purposes.

The state and the institutions involved argue that the bond aid would not support religious activities. They contend that the mere fact that they have some church connection does not disqualify them from government aid when it can be shown that the aid is directed at secular purposes.

The state also argues that aid to private colleges is based on its interest in promoting the general welfare through encouraging the higher education of its citizens.

The office of the attorney general said the Maryland Court of Appeals has ruled in three separate cases — in 1876, 1928 and 1938 — that public funds may be used to help church-connected institutions if a clear public purpose is being served.

The Supreme Court ruled in 1899 that a grant by the District of Columbia to a Catholic hospital was permissible because the funds served a public purpose.

Western Maryland College is connected with the Methodist Church; Hood College was founded by the Reformed Church of the United States which was succeeded by the United Church of Christ. Notre Dame and St. Josephs are both operated by orders of Catholic nuns.

The plaintiffs are nine state residents and the Horace Mann League of the United States of America, a non-profit educational and charitable organization.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Reports that slot machines have been added at 97 Maryland business establishments despite a statewide freeze on them will be investigated by the State Police.

Col. Carey Jarman, state police commander, said he would review the subject with Capt. Thomas S. Smith, who heads the intelligence department, and Internal Revenue Service records might be checked.

The IRS disclosed last week that 97 additional businesses in Maryland had purchased $250 Federal gambling machine stamps during the last fiscal year although the General Assembly in 1963 outlawed the addition of any more slot machines after July 1, 1965.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced the reopening of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal to all ship traffic.

The canal had been closed to shipping after a levee break, spilling tons of silt which had been dredged from channel last year back into it.

A survey showed the waterway had not been blocked by the break as was thought at first.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 15-year-old escaper from the Maryland Training School for Boys died at Sinai Hospital Saturday night of self-inflicted gunshot wounds, police said.

Police said the youth, David Bristor, shot himself in the head Nov. 18 when authorities started closing in on him while he was hiding in an abandoned shack.

Bristor had escaped from the institution the same day.

Md. Smoker Less Fit, Study Discloses

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland smoker coughs more, is short of breath, has more physical complaints, generally feels less fit, is hospitalized more frequently and dies sooner than the non-smoker, says a prominent cancer statistician.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, writing in the Maryland State Medical Journal, said the chances of a man who smokes a pack of cigarettes or more a day of dying early are almost twice as high as the non-smoker.

Dr. Hammond said the evidence "indicates that cigarette smoking is a serious hazard to health."

The more frequent symptoms complained of by Maryland smokers were loss of appetite, pains in the chest, hoarseness, stomach pains, nausea or vomiting and a tendency to tire easily, Dr. Hammond said.

He is the director of statistical research for the American Cancer Society, which is conducting a study of more than 1,000,000 Americans aimed at identifying personal habits and other environmental factors related to cancer and other diseases. Some 20,000 Marylanders are represented in the six-year study that began in 1959.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are having a heated argument and neither of us will give an inch. Can you settle it?

I am becoming increasingly distressed about the indifference of our society to brutality and death. Fourteen and fifteen-year-olds bludgeon innocent victims with pieces of pipe. When questioned they say they don't know why they did it. In some instances the murder didn't even know his victim.

Heartbroken and bewildered parents report, "He was always a good child." Teachers add, "He was the sort of boy who never caused any trouble."

What is happening? I say the daily diet of killing on TV compounded by the use of guns as toys makes murder commonplace. Children are confused. Values are blurred. They don't know when the game ends and real killing begins.

My husband wants to buy our 5 and 7-year-old sons toy guns, chaps, and cowboy hats for Christmas. I say "NO GUNS." He says guns are a part of a boy's growning up and that I am some kind of a nut to deprive our sons of boyhood fun.

What do you say, Ann Landers?
—BATTLING FOR SANITY

Dear Battling: I'm with you but I don't buy the theory that toy guns and TV will make killers out of healthy, normal children. The trouble goes back much further. I do agree that constructive TV shows and creative toys are infinitely better for children and I would not buy a toy gun for a child.

The American Friends Service Committee (Quakers) distributed as essay which echoes, faithfully, my sentiments:

Violence is abroad in our land.
Dogs are turned on humans —
Murder is with us in the headlines and TV,
Homes are bombed in the North
Children in church are killed in the South.
We rely on weapons of annihilation to secure our "way of life."
Violence is so commonplace in our lives that we hardly notice it
Until finally, our young and vital President is killed
By an assassin's bullet
Setting off a chain of even more violence.
And we are ashamed.
Let us begin to question the violence of our lives.
Let us bring love and understanding to our families.
Let us begin with our children.
Ought we supply them with toys that make violence so commonplace—
The gun, the tank, the rocket,
Rather than tools, paints, or books of other lands?
If we buy only creative toys this Christmas
It can be a beginning —
A symbol of our rejection of violence.
In memoriam to our late President,
In keeping with Christmas as a time of peace and love,
Let us begin by this small act.
If each of us does not do this—who will?
If not now — when?

Dear Ann: When a husband and wife are in a car together and the wife is driving what does it mean? I say it means the wife is in the driver's seat literally as well as figuratively.

Am I right or wrong about this? Ten bucks rides on your answer.

Dear D. R. T.: When the wife drives it could mean (1) she likes to drive and he doesn't. (2) Doctor's orders. (3) He's tired and she isn't. (4) He's stoned and she's sober. (Now what happened to your ten bucks?)

"The Bride's Guide, "ANN LANDERS' booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a wedding. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Dear Ann: I want to commend you on the advice you gave "Just Plain Miserable," the woman who announced to friends and relatives that her husband was an impossible scoundrel and that she was divorcing him. Several weeks later she changed her mind about wanting a divorce but she was too ashamed to take him back.

I'd like to recite my own experience. It may be of value to others who are obstinate and blind.

When I learned my husband had been unfaithful I was deeply hurt. My friends and family agreed he was a louse and agreed I was too good for him. They urged me to get a divorce. So I did.

It didn't take long before I realized I was at least 50 per cent to blame for what had happened. I realized, too, that the divorce had offered no solution but merely compounded the problems. I discovered, to my great disappointment, that my friends and family couldn't have cared less about my troubles.

By then my husband was ready to admit he had lost everything of value and deeply regretted his foolishness. We were remarried within eighteen months.

Our real friends were hoping all along we'd get back together. As for the others—those who told me I'd be crazy to take him back — I saw how wrong they were every time my children's faces beamed at the sight of their dad's car pulling into the driveway.

All this happened 15 years ago and everyday I thank God for giving me the courage and good sense to reunite our home and make our marriage work. — LIVING PROOF

Dear Living: I'm sure thousands of divorced men and women who read your letter are at this moment regretting that they didn't take the same route.

I earnestly hope the slightly disenchanted wives and husbands in my reading audience (which means everybody — for what marriage can live up to the glowing image of the movies and novels?) will read "Living Proof's" letter again, and take a good look at their own marriage. It may not be the greatest but it's probably better than any alternative.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 16-year-old girl who tries hard to get along with her family. The biggest arguments we have are about my friends. The kids I go with (both boys and girls) have a habit of ignoring my mother and father. If my parents say hello to them first they sometimes get an answer.

The minute my guest leaves the folks jump on me with, "I certainly hope YOU have the good manners to greet the parents of YOUR friends when you go to their homes."

Last week I gave a party for 24 kids. When the party was over only one boy and two girls said "Thank You" and "Goodnight" to my parents who were sitting in another room. The next morning I heard plenty about it.

I have mentioned this to some of my friends but they don't seem to improve even after I tell them. Why is this? — WANT TO BE CIVILIZED

Dear Civilized: The reason your friends don't do better is because they were not taught good manners early. It's no excuse, however. Kids learn plenty that is undesirable outside the home. They can learn much that is good outside the home, too — if they want to.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband told me last night that from now on he flatly refuses to look at any more home movies. He said the next time this thing is visited on him he is walking out of the house—no matter whose it is. Frankly, after last night I can't blame him.

We were invited to what we thought was a dinner party.

Court Gives Man Permission To Give Away $6 Million

CHICAGO (AP) — A 78-year-old insurance company employe won court permission Friday to give away $6 million of his fortune to 25 friends.

A daughter and two other blood relatives were ignored.

Lawrence L. Goddard told Circuit Court Judge Daniel A. Covelli he wants to distribute the cash while he is alive to watch his friends enjoy it.

Goddard assured the judge that the $21,000 annual income from stocks he retains will keep him comfortably.

Goddard established in 1961 an irrevocable trust which after his death would give the holdings to beneficiaries because of "kindnesses accorded the donor." Judge Covelli granted his request Friday to dissolve the trust and distribute his holdings now.

The original trust and the new arrangement both note; "the donor has intentionally made no provision whatsoever" for Goddard's daughter, Florence; a niece, Margaret L., or a nephew, Leland.

Goddard explained he had not received the same "kindnesses" from them.

Judge Covelli previously had deferred his decision until Goddard could appear in court. Goddard answered yes when the judge asked him if he knew what he was doing.

Goddard's attorney, Almore H. Teschke, said the dissolution now would mean a larger share for the beneficiaries. Gift taxes, which Goddard intends to pay, rather than higher inheritance taxes, would apply.

An accountant reported that as heirs, the beneficiaries would be liable for $8,244,000 in inheritance taxes and could keep $4,556,000. Distribution of the trust while Goddard is alive would make the gift tax applicable, and the beneficiaries would receive $6,070,400 of the trust.

Goddard amassed his millions over the years by investing in an insurance company where he was head clerk.

Local Youth Hurt In Crash

A 17-year-old youth was hospitalized with injuries suffered in a two-car accident Thursday at the intersection of Fayette and Allegany streets.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was Donald F. Barkman, 200 Wilmont Avenue, whom attaches report is in "satisfactory" condition. He reportedly suffered facial lacerations and a head injury.

Officer Robert L. Moyer, who investigated, said the Barkman youth was driving on Fayette Street when his car was struck by another operated by Azelma E. Frantz, 61, of Mt. Savage.

The woman has been charged with failure to stop and give right of way, while the youth is charged with speed greater than reasonable. No date has been set for the hearing pending the outcome of his injuries.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Does your work require long-term sitting?
Don't let it threaten your figure.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Don't Take It Sitting Down

Remaining seated for long hours at a job is blamed more than it should be for a spreading hipline. The fixed position does encourage it, but other factors are always at work.

When you first noticed that gain in the wrong place, did you also notice that you were gaining weight generally? The best first attack on the problem is with your diet. If you stay at your correct weight, little extra poundage can accumulate on your hips. Pay special attention to what you eat for lunch, because inactivity afterward means that your body requires little fuel from your food and will store it as fat.

Watch your posture all the time you are seated. A sprawling pose invites hip spread. Keep your feet and legs together and balance your weight squarely on your sitting bones. And make sure that the foundation garment you wear molds the hip flesh smoothly to do its part in preventing expansion.

Set yourself the goal of the perfect hip measurement for your individual figure, first making sure of what it is from the table in my booklet, "Do You Measure Up?" The booklet is yours for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to me at this newspaper. And when you know, work toward it with diet posture correction, and a proper foundation garment and a fourth way, which is very important. Compensate for the lack of exercise long-term sitting imposes by walking, swimming, if it's possible, and by at-home exercise. Here's one that does wonders when it's performed regularly ten minutes a day:

Lie face down on the floor with your arms bent so you can rest your forehead on your hands. Stretch your legs out straight. Raise your right leg up from the hip, knee straight, and swing it out to the right as far as you can. Bring it back to center and lower it slowly to the floor. Repeat ten times, then change to the left leg. Work up to 25 times for each.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 471 The government of Brazil was justified in its angry protests to the United States the autumn of 1864.

Capt. Napoleon Collins had taken USS Wachusett into the harbor of Bahia [the later-day Salvador] where, on Oct. 7, he had attacked and captured CSS Florida in flagrant violation of Brazilian neutrality and the recognized usages of war.

Capt. Charles Morris had permission from Brazilian authorities for the Florida to be in the port 48 hours for coal and repairs.

Collins knew the U. S. consul had given assurances the Wachusett would do nothing in Brazilian waters contrary to international law, but he didn't risk its slipping off in the night. His surprise foray accomplished the capture in a matter of minutes.

Collins put a prize crew aboard immediately, took the Florida in tow and, with aroused Brazilian forts firing at the Wachusetts, steamed out. A Brazilian sloop-of-war and gunboat attempted to overtake the Wachusetts, but were outrun.

When the Florida was taken into Hampton Roads in mid-November, the public acclaim given Collins' feat compounded the difficulty of appeasing Brazil.

Although a court of inquiry found Collins guilty of gross misconduct, the Navy Department overruled the finding. But the Florida never served the Union. Rebel saboteurs sank her at anchorage off Newport News, Nov. 28. Eventually, the U. S. made apologies to Brazil.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Hollywood's extras, actors who appear in minor television and movie roles, are demanding a raise in pay from the town's producers.

There are more than 3,000 members in the Screen Extras Guild (SEG), many of them only part-time actors who hold down other jobs.

As a general rule, extras are faceless actors. They blend with crowds, form the mass for mob scenes, line up along the bar for a saloon setting or walk along the street.

They are rarely required to recite a line. When they do have something to say the salary takes a healthy boost into the jurisdiction of the Screen Actors Guild which demands at least $100 per day for talking actors.

Extra actors are now paid $25.47 per day or $115.02 per week. SEG in its negotiations with the producers is asking for $30 a day for extras, those who stand in for stars, and midgets.

The contract demands don't end there. SEG is a thorough outfit, a labor organization which seeks to cover all the various activities which go under the label of acting.

Some of the demands might seem strange to an outsider, but to the working extra such activities as horseback riding, football and basketball are bread and butter issues.

For instance, if an extra is mounted on a polo pony for a scene, SEG is asking that he be paid $37. If the polo pony moves the action could conceivably fall into the category of "riding a spirited horse," for which the extra is now asking $51 per day.

Riding bareback is a chore for which extras are asking $54 a day. "Straight riding" is a little cheaper, $37. The lower rate in that category may well be based on comfort. An actor is more comfortable on a horse with a saddle.

For handling oxen, the extras want $51. Handling other livestock comes cheaper, $37.

When you look at a movie featuring a bunch of actors splashing around the swimming pool, think of the costs. Water polo players could cost $54 a day.

A producer who casts extras for a football game will have to pay the players $55 a day under the proposed contract. The biggest stars in college football make less than that.

Basketball and baseball players would also get $55. Bowlers, golfers and tennis players come cheaper, $40.

Extras who are asked to report for work with a pair of ice skates or roller skates shall be paid an extra allowance of not less than $2.00 per day. It's assumed the skates will be used in a scene.

An extra who wears makeup on "any portion of his body other than his face or hands," or who wears a rubber skull cap or wig glued to his head shall be entitled to an extra $10.00 daily.

SEG is also asking for paid vacations and residual payments for repeats of television shows on which an extra appears.

The guild has been negotiating for a new pact with the producers for four months and the end appears in sight. In the meantime, that extra astride his polo pony is waiting for the game to start.

KEYSER, W. Va.—Members of the fifth Red Cross Gray Lady course for the Tri-Towns area are now working on their on-the-job training at Potomac Valley Hospital to complete the course.

After the Gray Ladies began working at the hospital at the conclusion of the first course, they were asked by the hospital to assume operation of the visitors desk and the practice has continued the past several years.

The new class includes Mrs. Evelyn Wilson of Westernport; Mrs. Mary E. Romig, Keyser and Mrs. Betty Zucker, Cumberland.

Attending and assisting at the orientation were Mrs. Elaine Walsh chairman of the Westernport Gray Lady Group; Mrs. Jean Steward, executive director, Mineral County Chapter; Rev. U.O. Office Will Handle Annual Christmas Project

WESTERNPORT — The United Organizations of the Tri-Towns discussed plans at their meeting Friday evening for the annual distribution of Christmas food baskets and toys to needy families of the area.

The U. O. office will be open daily Monday through Friday beginning December 2 through December 18 from 9:30 a. m. to noon and 1 to 3 p. m. to receive applications for the baskets.

Wilbur Johnson, president, asks that anyone having toys to donate to please bring them to the U. O. office on the second floor of the Union Hall if they are in good usable condition. Any toys in need of paint or repair may be taken to Dixon's garage or the Knights of Columbus home, Piedmont where the organization will superintend the work of making the toys usable.

The Tri-Towns Ministerial Association will sponsor the Christmas party and gifts for the boys Forestry Camps. The group requests donations of gifts for the project be handled by Alton Fortney.

The U. O. will again meet December 11 at the Union Hall to complete preparations for the Christmas project. All board members are to serve on the allocations committee which will meet December 20 at 2 p. m. to review the applications.

Auxiliary Aids Hospital At Meyersdale

MEYERSDALE, Pa. — In the atmosphere of its annual Christmas bazaar and rummage sale, the Meyersdale Community Hospital Auxiliary presented a check for $1,000 to E. L. Pritt, hospital administrator.

The presentation was made by Mrs. Ross S. Rumbaugh, auxiliary treasurer, with other officers looking on in the former Barber Building, the scene of the two-day fund raising event.

Other officers on hand for the presentation were: Mrs. Leora Maul, president; Mrs. E. K. Suder, vice president, and Mrs. Decker Saylor, secretary.

The gift ups the total given by the hospital auxiliary here over the years to $18,250. Many events and sales have gone by the board since the first event was staged November 16, 1948.

The $1,000 donation is not the only contribution made by the auxiliary this year. Earlier it donated an electric sewing machine for use by the sewing group, which meets once each week to sew for the hospital.

The auxiliary is also purchasing an artificial Christmas tree for the hospital, along with safety lights. These will be placed in the lobby during the Christmas season.

The weekly sewing group has made an outstanding contribution to the hospital in its weekly session. Between January 1 and November 1 of this year, the group has mended 4162 pieces of work. The sewers have cut and made a total of 894 new pieces.

Most of this sewing work is for supplies for the central supply room. The tremendous importance of this phase of the hospital auxiliary's service is seen in the amount of time spent during the past 11-month period.

In this period ladies of the sewing group have spent 1,600 hours in doing this work

The $1,000 donation by the auxiliary comes at a very appropriate time, as the hospital is conducting its annual fund appeal. While the auxiliary gift goes into adding and improving hospital services, the annual fund appeal raises funds to further reduce the bonded indebtedness.

On Saturday, about 5,000 fund appeal letters were mailed out in the area. This is an annual appeal through which the bonded indebtedness of the hospital has been decreased from $125,000 to its present $30,000 figure.

Tri-Towns Tops CUF Goal With More To Come

WESTERNPORT — The Tri-Towns area has become the first sector in the eighth County United Fund campaign to go over its goal with a whopping $11,865 total.

Chairman Horace E. Nichols Jr. beamed that the $11,800 goal has been oversubscribed with "more to come!"

Two of the three divisions in the Tri-Towns area have gone over their individual goals. The Business Division with Harry R. Smith at the helm is easily setting the pace with 142.1 per cent of a $400 goal. Reported so far is $568.25 in business gifts.

The Golden Gifts Division, with a higher target of $10,000 and co-chaired by William N. Devens and W. Harold Fredlock, has racked up 100.4 per cent by a total of $10,039.30. They report that more is to come.

The Classified Division, also expected to go over its goal soon, stands at 89.9 per cent or $1,257.96. Employe groups within the classified framework need less than $150 to go over their mark for a clean sweep.

W. Fred Mowen, general campaign chairman, was high in his praise for the performance given by Tri-Towns area residents, both the givers and the campaign workers.

"This is truly a shinning example that has been set in the Tri-Towns," remarked Mr. Mowen. "Not only is the Tri-Towns area the first to report its goal exceeded, but it still counts on taking the total higher. Such an example of community spirit and concern for our less-fortunate neighbors is one for all of us to follow in bringing this entire campaign over its goal.

"The underprivileged people of the Tri-Towns and the youth of the area will have a special reason for a Thanksgiving Day observance this year," Mr. Mowen concluded.

By becoming the first area to surpass its goal, Tri-Towns is the leading contender for the four-foot Golden Achievement Award trophy which is presented every year to the area attaining the highest percentage of its goal.

Placed into competition in 1961, the award was won for two years by the Cumberland area and last year by the east county area.

W. Virginia Deer Season Opens Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —Thousands of sportsmen, many of them hoping to bag their first deer, will be in the woods at dawn Monday for the opening of the 1964 bucks-only season.

In Berkeley County, schools will be closed all day Monday to allow interested persons to go hunting. The day will be made up in spring.

The gun season on bucks will continue in most counties until Dec. 12.

Certain counties in Southern West Virginia will have a six-day buck season for the first time in recent years, and Hardy and Hampshire Counties will have an additional two days to hunt either buck or doe by permission only.

The State Natural Resources Department extended the season in the two counties on Dec. 18-19 because an increase in the deer population resulted in damage to agricultural crops.

The department was able to open the bucks-only season for six days in Raleigh, Wyoming, McDowell, Logan Summers and portions of Boone and Monroe Counties because of a buildup in the deer herd.

However, the season will be closed in Wayne, Lincoln, Mingo, and portions of Kanawha, Putnam, and Fayette Counties south of U. S. 60.

Clarksburg Man Boomed For House Speaker

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —Del. H. Laben White of Clarksburg will be recommended as speaker of the West Virginia House of Delegates for the 57th Legislature at the Democratic party caucus here Dec. 7, it was reported Sunday afternoon.

State Democratic Chairman James Sprouse said he was authorized to make the announcement by the four men who had been in contention for the speakership, which is being vacated by Julius Singleton of Morgantown.

Sprouse said the other contenders—Dels. Ivor F. Bolarsky of Charleston, Harry R. Pauley of McDowell County and J. E. (Ned) Watson of Fairmont — have withdrawn from the race effective Sunday.

Sprouse said the three would ask their supporters to back White at the House caucus, slated for 10:30 a.m. at the Charleston Civic Denter. The Senate will caucus the same day in its statehouse chamber to select officers. Sen. Howard Carson of Fayetteville is considered a sure winner as Senate president. He faces some opposition from Sen. Clarence Martin of Martinsburg.

He said the decision to support White was reached after the four contenders engaged in a series of weekend conferences to determine which one was most suited to guide legislation through the upcoming legislative session.

White, a Clarksburg native, was first elected to the House in 1956. A former school teacher, he is a graduate of Glenville State College and holds a law degree from West Virginia University.

Santa Bails Out To Save 'Sleigh'

GREEN BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Santa Claus's "Ho-ho-ho!" changed to "Oh, oh!" Sunday while he was flying high over New Jersey to a bunch of youngsters who expected him a month early.

His "sleigh" was in trouble and couldn't finish the trip. So he jumped to the ground. Then he rolled up his parachute.

A minute or two after Santa had come down, his "sleigh" — in the form of a single-engine Cessna 180 — landed nearby in a field.

It had left Manville Airport for Union, where Santa was to jump to the ground during half time of a Midget Football League game. But on the way its engine conked out, and Santa had to bail out to make it lighter for a forced landing.

The landing caused no damage to the plane. The pilot, Marvin Everett, 18, and another passenger, Peter Ehmann, 24, were not hurt.

Afterward they and Santa, Roland Thoren, 24, hitchhiked more than five miles back to the airport, where they hopped into another plane and fulfilled their mission at the football game.

Navy Pilot Takes Bailout Casually

WEEMS, Va. (AP) — A Navy pilot who bailed out of his disabled aircraft near this tidewater Virginia community Saturday ended things on a nonchalant note.

Cmdr. T. M. Kastner, based at Patuxent, Md., Naval Air Station, splashed down into waist-deep water of the Rappahannock River not far up stream from where his Navy jet aircraft had plunged into the water.

A young woman on a pier heard a splash and looked up to see the pilot, about 50 yards away, gathering in his parachute.

In her astonishment she could only say "Good morning." Kastner casually replied, "Good morning."

Ground Will Be Broken For JFK Cultural Center

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson, using a gold-plated spade, will break ground Wednesday for the $31 million John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts on the banks of the Potomac River.

Robert F. Kennedy, younger brother of the late President, will represent the family at the ceremonies, along with his sisters, Mrs. Jean Smith and Mrs. Eunice Shriver.

It was not known whether Jacqueline Kennedy, the President's widow, would attend. She and her husband actively supported plans for the center, which now will be the only authorized memorial to Kennedy in the nation's capital.

Originated during the Eisenhower administration as a national cultural center, its name was changed by Congress after Kennedy was assassinated one year ago.

Construction will begin next June at the site upriver from the Lincoln Memorial.

Plastic Christmas Tree Sales Climb At Fast Pace

By PHILIP J. KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember the days when dad hiked off to the woods to chop down the family Christmas tree?

Not only has that custom all but vanished, but the natural Christmas tree seems to be losing its place in many American living rooms to the plastic Christmas tree.

So said Chase Manhattan Bank on Sunday, one of the nation's prominent financial institutions.

The bank analyzed the Christmas tree situation in a bimonthly report that dealt with such other topics as the nation's balance of payments problem and bank liquidity.

Americans will spend $155 million this year on Christmas trees, estimated the bank. More than three of every 10 trees sold — about $55 million worth — will be artificial.

The bank said sales of artificial trees have shot up 300 to 400 per cent in recent years and cited the growth of the plastic tree, which it called the "vinyl evergreen."

The report said more and more fire marshals are banning natural trees from government buildings, offices and hospitals. Plastic trees are becoming cheaper and look more like real trees, added the bank.

Still, said Chase Manhattan, most Americans prefer the natural tree and "have pleasant images of purchasing the tree at a nearby lot where some enterprising merchant has set up shop."

Sales of natural trees, while climbing at a much slower pace than artificial models, should total 46 million trees this year, compared with 43 million in 1960. Americans import about 10 million fir, spruce and pine trees each year from Canada to meet the demand, said the bank.

Saigon Showdown Coming Soon?

A few more reverses such as the United States has suffered in recent days in South Viet Nam, and it won't be possible to ignore the unpleasant alternatives any longer. The moment of truth will be at hand.

It should be apparent that present American policies in Viet Nam are leading at best to a stalemate, and at worst—and this seems much more likely—to a continued deterioration in the military situation.

Compounding the seriousness of the war against the Viet Cong is the inability of Saigon, since the overthrow of the Diems, to form a stable government. This instability in recent weeks has undermined the anti-Communist spirit of much of the Vietnamese population.

Certainly the chaotic condition of the Vietnamese government has been one of the decisive anchors preventing the U. S.-guided military effort from removing or even containing the growing pockets of Viet Cong control over the peasant population.

Under the circumstances, extending the war to North Viet Nam would seem to have little purpose other than to commit large numbers of American troops to combat under the most unfavorable conditions. Unlike Korea, in which American forces faced similar political and terrain handicaps, not one other country in the world has offered even token aid in the U. S. effort to keep Indochina or the rest of Southeast Asia from falling under the wing of Peking.

If the U. S. position now seems untenable in South Viet Nam, it will continue to deteriorate unless a major policy decision is made soon. That decision will determine whether the forces fighting the Viet Cong will be beefed up considerably, with the Saigon government playing a smaller role in the total effort, or the U. S. will begin working toward a negotiated settlement.

The latter decision is the more likely of the two.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Wilson's First Blooper?

Three by-elections could the whole trend of politics in Britain, so narrow is the margin of Labor's supremacy in Parliament. And quite possibly Prime Minister Harold Wilson has already set things in motion to bring about his own downfall.

The Labor embargo on arms shipments to South Africa could conceivably play a quick part in an early change. This embargo is the result of Mr. Wilson's insistence on a moral issue; he does not wish to send arms to South Africa that could be used internally to uphold the doctrine of apartheid that keeps blacks and whites isolated from each other in what might be called paralled communities.

The trouble with the moralistic approach to British foreign policy, however, is that it begs all sorts of ethical questions and, at the same time, exposes the nation to grave dangers that could threaten what remains of Britain's old place in the world. It makes no consistent sense, morally, to try to discourage trade with South Africa and, at the same time, advocate the diversion of that trade to Australia, which won't even let people of color into an underpopulated land of continental proportions. Neither does it make any moral sense to expose British citizens all around the globe to the dangers flowing from a practical policy that could accentuate British weakness.

If British exports to South Africa continue at the rate of the first seven months of 1964 they will total $600,000,000 for the year. This is a sizeable sum of money, and it represents a good deal of employment in the British Isles. Cutting off the export of small arms to South Africa won't make much of a dent in a six hundred million figure. But one thing can lead to another in the business of embargo and counter-embargo, and what Mr. Wilson has started could be far from finished.

At the time the embargo on the export of arms to South Africa was decreed, Britain was building $42,000,000 worth of low - level attack planes which the South Africans need for anti-submarine warfare. Since this is a firm contract, it will, presumably, not be affected by the embargo. And the South Africans have already received frigates and helicopters from Britain. All of these are required to carry out South Africa's part in defending the naval base at Simonstown which the British are using to protect their own sea route around the Cape of Good Hope.

The trouble is that South Africa has a need for more naval defense units, including submarines. Orders for these would normally go to Britain; they would create employment in the Clydeside and other British yards, which would mean a continuing supply of votes for the Labor government. If the orders are to go elsewhere in the future, either through Mr. Wilson's action or South African reprisal, the Labor Party might have to say goodbye to those votes.

British use of the Simonstown naval base is entirely dependent on South African good-will. Without this base, British forces in the East would have to be supported by way of the Suez Canal, which is controlled by Egypt's Nasser. In the event of trouble with Indonesia's Sukarno over Malaysia, Nasser might very well decide that Sukarno's so-called "anti-colonial" cause is his own. Nasser is a dictator, and he is unpredictable.

As for the moral issue of cozying up to Nasser at the expense of the South Africans, isn't it a case at best of jumping from frying pan to fire? Nasser doesn't practice apartheid, but he hates Israelis and is sworn to destroy their country. The Wilson government may be hoping to curry favor with the Asian-African bloc in the UN by stopping the export of arms to South Africa. But the gains in mid-Africa could easily be canceled by a loss of security in the East if South Africa should react against Britain in the matter of the Simonstown base and thus put British forces in the East at the mercy of Nasser.

Harold Wilson just doesn't understand the requirements of a foreign policy. It could be that he has made his first bad mistake

Moderate New President Of Mexico Seeks To Build Latin 'Great Society'

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note: Jack Anderson, substituting for Drew Pearson, is now attending the inauguration of the new President of Mexico.)

MEXICO CITY—Amid the hoopla of a mardi gras, the ceremonial red-white-and-green sash of the Mexican Presidency this week will be draped over the shoulder of Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, a slender, sallow man with a long nose, who is able to smile at his own looks.

With Lincoln-like humor, he recently quipped: "My opponents say I am two-faced. But if I had two faces, I would certainly be wearing the other."

The inauguration of President Diaz Ordaz will be the signal for Mexico's sandaled and sombrereoed peons to fill the air with confetti, balloons, and fireworks. For he is the candidate of the revolution, the champion of the downtrodden, the choice of the masses.

His campaign literature would have them believe he was born in an adobe hut, the Mexican equivalent of a log cabin. But it would be more accurate to describe him as the product of Mexico's mushrooming middle class.

The lawyer son of a government accountant, Diaz Ordaz has inherited the leadership of the 1910 revolution which overthrew the landed aristocracy. But he is more the leader of a new, economic revolution that is changing Mexico from the land of "Manana" to a nation of automobiles and appliances, sold on the installment plan.

Shoes And Shirts

It is said here that a Mexican enters the middle class when he puts on shoes and buys a second shirt. Diaz Ordaz means to spread more shoes and shirts among the people. He hopes to introduce his own Latin version of the "Great Society."

His predecessors have already broken up the big estates and distributed the land to the peons. Indeed, a generous 125,000,000 acres have been parceled out, though only 72,000,000 acres are considered tillable.

"We have merely been distributing misery," says the new President. "Land reform that is not productive is not land reform at all."

He intends to introduce irrigation projects and modern farming methods to Mexico's brown and barren acres. He also would like to wipe out the rat-ridden shantytowns, which can be found even on the edges of beautiful, modern Mexico City.

For despite the lip service paid to the 50-year-old revolution 2 per cent of the population still own almost half of the private wealth and most Mexicans still have trouble scrounging enough to eat.

Ordaz And LBJ

President Diaz Ordaz's dream of a great society isn't his only trait in common with the tall Texan he visited last month at the LBJ ranch.

Like President Johnson, Diaz Ordaz is a homespun politician who loves to surge through a straw-hatted crowd, shaking hands, patting youngsters on the head, and preaching political platitudes in the best LBJ style.

Like Lyndon Johnson, the President of Mexico also tries to bring all factions under his political tent. This is the purpose and program of his Party of Revolutionary Institutions, known less formally throughout Mexico as P.A.I. or simply "Pree."

Indeed, long before Diaz Ordaz came to power, the P. R. I. had succeeeded in crowding most Mexicans under the same big top. The labor unions, peasant organizations, trade associations—ranging from the socialists on the left to the conservative businessmen on the right—have found shelter in the P. R. I.

As a result, it has become a party of consensus, ruled by the moderates who hold close to the middle, not unlike the Democratic Party that emerged during the recent American election.

The all-embracing P. R. I. has managed to hold Mexico's diverse factions together by skillful political maneuvering—a speech to cheer the left wing, a promise to placate the right wing, a compromise acceptable to both—much in the manner of Lyndon B. Johnson.

Result: Over the years, the P. R. I. has gained almost total domination over Mexican politics and the support of over 80 per cent of the electorate.

Politics Calms Down

Diaz Ordaz was a compromise candidate for President, chosen by party chieftains in the smoke-filled back rooms of the P.R.I. He had an opponent in last July's election, Jose Gonzalez Torres, who, like Sen. Barry Goldwater, was the candidate of the far right. But like Goldwater, Torres was buried in his opponent's landslide.

Of course, the outcome—more predictable than in the U. S.—was far more lopsided.

The last election was also one of the most quiet in Mexico's turbulent history. The violence of the revolution has been a long time cooling off.

But Mexico's politicians have now put their pistols down, shooting off nothing more dangerous than fireworks during an election campaign—another sign of the moderation and maturity of modern Mexico.

Except for a vocal minority on the far left, gringo-hating is not as popular as a few years ago. Less frequently do politicians repeat the saying of former President Porfirio Diaz (1877-1911): "Pobre Mexico, tan lejos de Dios, tan cerca de Los Estados Unidos del Norte America. (Poor Mexico, so far from God and so close to the United States.)"

President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz is more typical of the mood today: a firm friend of the United States who expects and deserves to be treated as an equal.

The New Political Machine May Be A Computer

By Joseph Alsop

HARTFORD, Conn. — At the current special session of this state's legislature, the members dare not allow themselves to forget the darkly brooding figure of a youngish mathematician-astronomer, Morris Davis.

Despite a complete lack of previous political experience, Davis has become the new hobgoblin of Connecticut politics by the fiat of the Federal District Court.

The court has sternly decreed the end of the state's antique rotten borough system and has further decreed that Davis, as head of the Yale University Computer Center, is to reapportion the state by computer if the lawmakers fail to do the job on time.

Davis is nothing loath. He has said that it will "pose some fascinating challenges" to program his computers for a "non-partisan" reapportionment, "approaching the problem as one of mathematics rather than politics."

The lawmakers are somewhat less eager to permit mere machines to design a new political system for Connecticut, but it may happen all the same. Republican State Chairman A. Searle Pinney will not have an easy time reaching agreement with Connecticut's Democratic satrap, National Chairman John Bailey, on the best way to elect a new state senate and lower house on the rule of one man-one vote.

Bailey, meanwhile, piously protests that it will be downright shocking to let Davis and his computers do the job. But, as in any reapportionment, a lot of ambitious people are bound to suffer, no matter how the job is done. It will not pain Bailey greatly, perhaps, if the computers are to blame instead of Bailey.

This first appearance of the computer on the grass roots political scene is not solely interesting, however, because it sets a precedent. The drama in this state is more curious than most, no doubt, because the hero of the drama, in the final upshot, may turn out to be a machine. But this local drama is only a part of a larger national drama that threatens the historic taproot of the Republican Party.

In New York, in Michigan and in great numbers of other states outside the South, more or less biased apportionment systems have constituted the deep taproot of Republican power. In most of these states it has long been all but illegal for the Republicans to lose control of the statehouse.

This all but unchallengeable control of the local legislatures has in turn allowed the party to survive and sometimes to thrive in these states, through all the lean years since 1932. Here in Connecticut, for instance, the Republicans have lost control of the legislature's lower house — which has by far the most power — only once in this century, in the state election of 1958.

The means of control here has been the state constitution, adopted in 1818, which gave two seats in the lower house to every township then in being. In consequence, little, hilly Union, with under 400 inhabitants at the time of the last census, to this day has the same representation in the lower house as this large industrial and insurance city, or New Haven, or Bridgeport.

Such was the system condemned by the Supreme Court in its one man-one vote ruling. The Republicans, eager as the Gadarene swine to rush over any old cliff, then made matters much worse by choosing Sen. Barry Goldwater as their Presidential candidate, in the very year when the state legislatures had to get rid of their rotten boroughs.

In Connecticut, State Chairman Pinney was driven by the Goldwater nomination to say that the one kind of reapportionment he simply could not accept was reapportionment by a new legislature elected on the same ticket with the conservative here. Pinney was more than justified in lacking faith in all those "silent conservative" voters Goldwater was supposed to summon from the woodwork.

The courts did Pinney a favor extending the life of the old legislature elected in 1960 and bringing the computers into the drama as a last-ditch alternative. If a new legislature had been elected as usual this year, the Goldwater catastrophe would have produced a two-to-one Democratic majority on the very lowest estimate.

In New York, in the same fashion, the Democrats won the legislature for the first time in donkey's years. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is, therefore, grimly trying to redistrict the state at a special session of the old, Republican-controlled senate and assembly. Overall, the Goldwater catastrophe has had the double effect of reinforcing the Supreme Court one man-one vote ruling and of insuring that the ruling will not be effectively challenged.

The question remains: What will happen to the Republican Party without its taproot in the rotten boroughs? There are those who think the Republicans will do better in the end, if forced into equal competition in such states as this one. But time must tell about that.

Inside Washington

MISSISSIPPI JUDGESHIP — The death of a federal judge in Mississippi has provided the principal ingredient for a potential crisis between the White House and a segment of Congress.

Normally, the appointment of a successor, a presidential obligation, is made on the recommendation of the principal political party leader of the state involved. In this case it is one of the two Democratic senators from Mississippi.

However, in recent years Mississippi judges have been conducting the courts and rendering decisions in civil rights cases that run sharply contrary to federal laws and principals. Civil Rights leaders are unalterably opposed to the selection of another judge whose views of the laws and of court procedures are not in accordance with federal juridical principles.

It also happens that Mississippi's senators hold impressive power in Congress due to their seniority and consequent key committee assignments. If President Johnson does not appoint the man they recommend, it is likely they will work to block a long list of other judgeship appointments the President must make.

On the other hand, if he does he will get involved in a tough fight with many liberals in his own party who likewise hold considerable power in Congress.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

She held Marie Maddelena on her lap. She whispered to Miklos, the little golden lad, and he nodded solemnly. Some diners at the Algiers Hotel came over and asked for her autograph. She gave cheerfully, but it was the spurious cheer of one who has learned her lines. Jayne Mansfield has a hidden hurt. It is shielded from the world as though it were self-inflicted.

The sex symbol was in white. The sheath hugged her skin. The pale hair was piled straight up and then braided around on top like a regal crown. The small white face, the big slash of mouth, and the kittenish dark eyes, coordinated to make a portrait of happiness.

"I'm so in love with you," she said to her young husband. "I really am. I really am." He is dark and 28, a serious and intelligent man with big eyes and lips, and the whispery hoarseness common to Latin men. Matt Cimber-Ottaviano is a play director.

He is not romantic; to the contrary. He met Miss Mansfield in May when he directed her in the off-Broadway production, Bus Stop. They were married September 24th. It is his first; her third. When she was a little girl, she was Jayne Palmieri of Phillipsburg, N. J. Later, she was Jayne Mansfield, part-time schoolteacher, of Texas. Then she went to Hollywood and married Mickey Hargitay, a mass of muscle and gentility with a Hungarian accent.

Now she is Mrs. Cimber-Ottaviano, and she studies assiduously to become a Roman Catholic. In front of the cameras, she is still a caricature of a woman; at home she is a cook, a dishwasher, mother, wife and sweetheart. She has four children; Jane Marie is 12, and studies at Sacred Heart of Mary School in Sag Harbor, Long Island; the others, Miklos, 6; Zoltan, 4; and Marie Maddelena, 10 months of age, go wherever mother goes.

"I want two thousand babies," she said to her bridegroom. "Whatever God sends, but two thousand would be nice." The worry returned to her eyes. "All boys, I hope." She looked at the dark and beautiful Marie Maddellena. A man named Levinson said: "It might interfere with your career."

Jayne put on her polite smile. "My career," she said softly, "is up to my husband." At this point, the real Jayne Mansfield left the one she wants to be. Her massive vanity can be fed only by headlines and a name in lights. Her maternal instinct requires that she put in more time as a mother and wife. The two are not compatible.

She is loving, adoring and impulsive. Jayne and Matt have just bought a "town house" at 52 E. 69th Street, New York. It has five floors, an elevator, marble floors and fireplaces in almost every room. It is adjacent to the Italian Embassy. This pleases Mansfield because she is in an Italian mood.

She says she is 27. It is possible that her arithmetic is weak. She is heavier than she used to be. Formerly, she bubbled all the time. Now she is defensive, evasive, and she will sip a little champagne and a little martini too.

She taped a comedy part on the Gleason show, and Jayne is not above satirizing Jayne Mansfield to draw a laugh. Still, her driving goal has been to remain a motion picture star. She and Mickey Hargitay bought a flamboyant Hollywood home with heart-shaped swimming pool to further the image.

Jayne may have arrived too late. When they put a star on her dressing room door, Hollywood was dying under kleig lights. After desultory success, she fled to Rome. There, she met Enrico Bomba, a producer. Mansfield made pictures by day, and headlines by night.

She says he taught her a great deal about Catholicity. Perhaps. It seems hardly a valid reason for suing Mickey for a separation, then running back to Rome, then starting divorce proceedings, then finding out that Signor Bomba had a wife and two children, then running back to Hargitay, then having a dark and beautiful little girl, then meeting Matt and getting married.

Somewhere, there is a deep hurt. Cimber-Ottaviano treats her gently. He has faith in her talent, and Jayne needs such warmth. His family has taken the sex symbol to their hearts. Still, she receives letters from Hargitay saying "Come back. You belong to me," and Jayne pretends to dismiss them with a shrug, but the message remains stamped on her mind.

In a moment, she stands, and pulls the white sheath down hard. The smile of the movie star is turned on, the chest is supported by a deep breath, and she leaves the dining room in the regal manner of a duchess who is not aware of the wake of excitement behind her.

If she weeps, she does it alone...

Nystagmus Result Of Variety Of Conditions

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Nystagmus is an ocular condition in which one or both eyeballs jerk back and forth, independently of other eye movements. These rhythmic oscillations or tremors are little more than a flicker. They result from a variety of conditions and are useful to the physician in diagnosing certain diseases.

The movements usually are from side to side but may be up and down, oblique, or 'round and 'round. The frequency varies from 40 to 100 per minute. Now and then they are too weak or slight to be seen and are detected only with a sensitive instrument (electronystagmograph or ENG).

Most people with nystagmus are unaware of it. Others are annoyed by the apparent swaying of objects as they look at them. In some instances, nystagmus is associated with head nodding or tilting and dizziness.

These oscillations represent a reflex from the balancing mechanism of the ear. In Meniere's syndrome, for example, the victim not only has nystagmus but dizziness, nausea, and ear noises. Nystagmus also is associated with a variety of nervous disorders.

Children with poor vision may develop these ocular movements as a mechanism to obtain the best fixation on an object — a sort of discriminate vision. Babies born blind and those who lose sight shortly after birth all have a noticeable nystagmus. This does not occur when blindness comes on later in life. Youngsters who have lived in dark surroundings may be afflicted after their third birthday and often the condition is associated with head nodding. Many albinos develop nystagmus and so do miners from working continuously in dim light.

Heavy drinkers are said to have nystagmus that persists up to 12 hours after drinking, even though the blood no longer contains alcohol. It is not marked; an ENG is needed to detect the movements. They are noted when turning the head and may present some problems for the individual when he drives a car on the day after imbibing.

SHIVERING INDUCES HEAT

R. M. writes: Whenever I go outside in the cold from a warm room, I shiver for about 5 minutes. What can I do to prevent this chilling?

REPLY

Wear warmer clothing. Shivering is a warming mechanism; muscle contractions generate more heat.

POOR NUTRITION

M. M. writes: What are the usual results of malnutrition?

REPLY

Weight loss, weakness, mental apathy, and swelling of the legs. In addition, specific deficiency diseases may develop. These include beriberi, pellagra, scurvy, rickets, kwashiorkor, goiter, some anemias, and certain neurological disorders.

CONESHAPED EYEBALL

M. B. writes: Is there a cure for keratoconus, an eye affliction?

REPLY

This is a hereditary disturbance in which the cornea of the eye is coneshaped instead of well rounded (concave). The condition cannot be cured but corneal lenses improve vision.

KNEES TURN INWARD

M. W. writes: What can be done to prevent knock knees from getting worse?

REPLY

Walking properly and putting a wedge on the inner part of the sole and heel of the shoe.

SLIM LIMBS

J. S. writes: Will regular massage fatten thin legs?

REPLY

No. Fat comes through the stomach and not from massaging.

Try And Stop Me

A Westport realtor was doing his darndest to sell a Southern prospect a hundred-thousand-dollar estate. "This is the one house in this exclusive sector," asserted the realtor, "that doesn't have any flaws in it." "No flaws?" echoed the Southerner. "Then what do you all walk on?"

A vivacious Hollywood star was boasting about her new personal press agent. "Darlings, he's simply marvelous," she gurgled. "I've only had him a month, and in that time I've been robbed of a million in jewels three times, my house has caught fire, my husband and I have been separated and reconciled, and John O'Hara and Jim Bishop have asked if they could write a book about me."

A very wise minister surprised his congregation one sweltering midsummer Sunday morning with this announcement: "Friends, I have here in my hands a hundred-dollar sermon that lasts ten minutes, a fifty-dollar sermon that lasts twenty minutes, and a twenty-dollar sermon that lasts a full hour. We will now take up the collection and see which one I will deliver."

Red Sox Trade Dick Stuart To Phillies

Boston Gets Lefty Pitcher Dennis Bennett

Mauch Expects Addition Of Slugger To Beef Up Attack

By MILTON RICHMAN

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — First baseman Dick Stuart was traded to the Philadelphia Phillies by the Boston Red Sox for southpaw Dennis Bennett Sunday in the first inter-league deal of the winter baseball meetings.

Transfer of the 32-year-old, long-ball hitting Stuart back to the National League occasioned little surprise at the formal opening of the meetings inasmuch as it had been openly discussed since the World Series.

Even Stuart expected it.

"Philadelphia's gain is Boston's loss," declared the slugging former Pittsburgh first baseman only a few days ago at his Greenwich, Conn., home.

The Stuart-Bennett deal was announced by Red Sox General Manager Mike Higgins. Although it was the first one consummated here at the meeting, it was the second inter-league deal in the last nine days. The San Francisco Giants dealt outfielder Jose Cardenal to the Los Angeles Angels for catcher Jack Hiatt when the inter-league trading period opened on Nov. 20.

Hit 66 HR's In Minors

Stuart, who first became prominent when he slugged 66 home runs for Lincoln of the Western League in 1956, was traded from Pittsburgh to the Red Sox on Nov. 20, 1962, along with pitcher Jack Lamabe for pitcher Don Schwall and catcher Jim Pagliaroni. He had been with the Pirates since 1958 and played in the 1960 World Series against the New York Yankees.

Stuart claims he did the job asked of him in his two seasons at Boston, and the records support him. In 1963 he hit 42 home runs, drove in 118 runs and hit for a .261 average. He boosted his average to .278 while playing 156 games last season, although his home run total dropped to 33 with 114 RBI's.

Phillies' Weak Spot

First base was a particularly weak spot for the Phillies last season when they blew a late-season bulge and lost the pennant by a single game. Philadelphia platooned Roy Sievers and John Herrnstein at first base most of the season and then got Frank Thomas from the New York Mets.

However, Thomas was injured soon after his arrival in Philadelphia and the Phils had to purchase Vic Power from the American League as a stop-gap means.

Bennett, like Stuart, has a high opinion of himself and last spring predicted he'd win 20 games. He fell far short of that mark, finishing with a 12-14 record and a 3.68 earned run average.

Cardinals Beat Steelers, Keep Title Hopes Alive

St. Louis Pulls Fourth-Quarter Rally To Win By 21-20

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Defensive back Pat Fisher's 49-yard run with a fumble recovery late in the fourth quarter beat the Pittsburgh Steelers 21-20 and kept alive the St. Louis Cardinals' hopes for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title Sunday.

Trailing 20-7 in the fourth period, Charley Johnson hit Jackie Smith with a 42-yard touchdown toss and Fischer sewed up the game after grabbing a fumble by John Henry Johnson.

The Steelers had moved ahead when Jim Bradshaw grabbed a fumble by John David Crow in the third period and ran 47 yards unmolested for the score.

The Cardinals, aided by a 39-yard return by Jerry Stovall on the initial kickoff, marched 51 yards in nine plays for their first score.

With eight seconds left in the second quarter, the Steelers' Mike Clark hit with a 30-yard field goal.

The fourth pass interception of the day and the second by Dick Haley led to the Steelers' other touchdown in the final quarters with Dick Hoak racing three yards for the score.

Starr Stars As Green Bay Lashes Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Bart Starr passed for three touchdowns and ran for one and the Green Bay defense intercepted three passes and picked up two fumbles for touchdowns Sunday as the Packers lashed the Dallas Cowboys 45-21.

It was one of the worst defeats for the Cowboys in their five years in the National Football League.

Green Bay ran up a 17-0 lead before Dallas could score, first driving 47 yards with Starr passing to Boyd Dowler for six and a touchdown.

Then Ray Nitschke intercepted a pass from rookie Lothridge, filling in for the injured Don Meredith, and set up a 25-yard field goal by Paul Hornung.

The next Green Bay score came when Lee Roy Caffey hit quarterback John Roach so hard he dropped the ball and Henry Jordan picked it up and raced 60 yards to a touchdown.

Dallas scored two touchdowns in the second period, the first on a 69-yard punt return by rookie Mel Renfro and the second with a 61-yard drive in which Roach passed for 38 yards.

Green Bay got two touchdowns in the third period to salt the game away, the first on a 14-yard pass from Starr to Taylor, the next on a one-yard run by Starr after a 37-yard pass to Ron Kramer set it up.

Oakland Ties Denver, 20-20

Field Goal Set Up By 77-Yard Pass

DENVER (AP) — Oakland rallied with 10 points in the last quarter to tie Denver 20-20 Sunday in a see-saw American Football League game.

Mike Mercer's 40-yard field goal pulled Oakland into the deadlock with 3½ minutes left after Tom Flores connected on a 77-yard pass to Art Powell on Denver's 11. Penalties and Denver's blitzing linemen had knocked Oakland back to the 33.

Denver's Dick Guesman tried a 45-yard field goal in the last nine seconds but it was wide to the left.

Oakland shot in front 7-0 on Clem Daniels' 25-yard touchdown run set up by Dan Birdwell's recovery of Charlie Mitchell's fumble.

Denver tied it 7-7 on a 65-yard march highlighted by Mitchell's 23-yard run and an interference call on a 15-yard pass.

Guesman's 37-yard field goal boosted Denver in front 10-7 midway of the second quarter but Mercer's 29-yard field goal tied it for Oakland.

Denver grabbed the lead 17-10 in the third period on Mitchell's eight-yard touchdown sprint. A 44-yard field goal by Guesman made it Denver 20 10 margin with 11 minutes left.

Bo Roberson ran back the ensuing kickoff 59 yards to Denver's 29 and on the second play Denver's John McGeever deflected a Flores' pass right into the arms of Oakland's Powell on the goal line for the Raiders' second touchdown.

Art Wall Wins Mexican Open Golf Tournament

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., shot a sizzling three-under-par 69 Sunday and won the Mexican National Open Golf Tournament with a record 276.

Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo shot a par 72 for a 281 total and second place. Third went to Don January of Dallas, who shot a one-over-par 73 for a 282 total.

Wall's performance topped the tourney record of 279 set by Al Balding of Canada in winning last year's tournament. Balding wound up well back in the pack this year.

Wall had gone into the final day with a two-stroke lead over de Vicenzo, and a three-stroke advantage over January.

A crowd estimated by officials of the Mexico Golf Club at 5,000 watched the play under generally clear skies.

Vikings Beat Rams, 34-13, In 'Ice Bowl'

Cold Weather Hampers Play

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota struck for two touchdowns and a field goal in the first half before the fingers and toes turned to icicles and rode the early margin to a 34-13 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in Sunday's "Ice Bowl."

The temperature around the 5-degrees chilled the passing attacks and neither side could establish a solid running game.

The Rams fumbled five times, losing it twice, in the first half to keep their offense from getting closer than Bruce Gossett's 18-yard field goal.

Minnesota moved 67 yards with the opening kickoff to take a 7-0 lead Fran Tarkenton passed 15 yards to Paul Flatley for the score.

Minnesota got another touchdown late in the first half on Tarkenton's 13 yard pass to Bill Brown and Fred Cox's 15-yard field goal for a 17-3 halftime lead.

The Vikings advantage reached 24-3 on George Rose's 32-yard pass interception runback only 3¼ minutes into the second half.

Los Angeles rallied on Billy Munson's 27-yard touchdown pass to Ben Wilson and Gossett's 33-yard field goal midway through the final period.

In the late flurry, Cox booted a 32-yard fielder, the Vikings recovered the ensuing kickoff and halfback Tommy Mason passed 30 yards to Tom Hall for a touchdown.

Cleveland 'Big Cat' Williams Critically Wounded By Cop

Heavy Contender Expected To Recover And Box Again

By WILLIAM CLAYTON

HOUSTON (UPI)— Cleveland (Big Cat) Williams, one victory away from the world's heavyweight boxing title, was shot and critically wounded in a scuffle with a policeman Saturday night, underwent five hours of surgery Sunday and his manager demanded an investigation.

Williams, 31, world's second-ranked heavyweight, was in critical condition, but was expected to recover and be able to box again.

Williams was shot near Tomball, Tex., North of Houston, by highway patrolman Dale Witten of Tomball. Witten said the gun went off in a struggle with Williams.

Witten said he stopped Williams' car and suspected the fighter of being drunk, around 11:20 p.m. (12:20 a.m. EST).

Witten said Williams stepped out of the automobile on the driver's side. He said he checked the boxer's drivers license and ordered him to the rear of the car. Three other Negros were also ordered out of the vehicle.

Placed Under Arrest

The officer said he determined that Williams and his male companion, Warner Ned, were intoxicated but the two females with them were not. He said he told the men they were under arrest. Witten said he ordered the fighter and Ned into the patrol car and was driving them toward Tomball.

The patrolman said Williams told him he could not afford to be arrested and was going to jump out of the auto. Witten said Williams opened the car door, so he pulled the auto to the shoulder of the road and stopped.

Witten said when he tried to keep Williams in the auto, but the fighter hit him twice in the head.

The patrolman pulled his 38-caliber pistol.

He said Williams grabbed the pistol, jerked it toward himself, and it fired one time. The officer said he and Williams fell out the right side of the car but that the boxer immediately passed out.

Colts Beat 49ers, 14-3, In Comedy Of Errors

Shula Shuffles Backfield, Cuozzo Used At Quarterback

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Baltimore's Western champions of the National Football League captured their 11th straight victory by beating the San Francisco 49ers 14-3 Sunday in a comedy of errors.

Even in winning, the Colts didn't mount a sustained drive until the waning minutes when they moved 80 yards in seven plays with Johnny Unitas hitting Ray Berry for the touchdown on a 35-yard pass.

Lenny Moore scored the other Baltimore touchdown in the second quarter on a two-yard smash on the first play after John Brodie's fumble was recovered by Lou Michaels.

San Francisco managed only one drive against the rugged Baltimore defense, moving 71 yards before Tommy Davis booted a 19-yard field goal.

The 49ers fumbled four times and lost the ball on three occasions and had five passes intercepted. Baltimore lost two interceptions and two fumbles.

Colt Coach Don Shula, with the Western Division crown cinched a week ago, shuffled his backfield combination repeatedly and worked Gary Cuozzo at quarterback the entire second period.

The Kezar Stadium crowd of 33,642 cheered the 49er defensive effort and booed the offense.

49er Offense Booed

Baltimore led 7-3 after a first half which saw six pass interceptions, six fumbles, seven penalties and at least half a dozen dropped passes.

The Colts' Michaels also missed a field goal from 21 yards out, directly in front of the crossbar.

The Colts intercepted four of Brodie's passes in the first two periods and would have had another if Steve Stonebraker and Windell Harris hadn't collided in pursuit of a wild ball.

Baltimore's first touchdown followed an exchange of giveaways. First, a Brodie pass bounced off the chest of end Monte Stickles into Lenny Lyles' hands. The colt defender ran to the San Francisco 14. Two plays later Abe Woodson intercepted a Cuozzo pass at the one. The 49ers gained three yards, then Brodie fumbled and Michaels recovered at the two. Moore went over.

In the third quarter the 49ers drove from their 25 to the Baltimore one. There, Brodie again fumbled and John Diehl recovered for the Colts. The victory put Baltimore record at 11-and San Francisco at 2-9.

Chiefs Beaten By Jets, 27-14

Dainard Paulson Intercepts 2 Passes

NEW YORK (AP) — Dainard Paulson intercepted two passes by broken-nosed Lenny Dawson, racing 32 yards for a touchdown on the first, and led the New York Jets to a 27-14 victory over Kansas City Sunday in an American Football League game.

Abner Haynes' three-yard touchdown run put the Chiefs ahead 7-6 just after the start of the second half. Then Paulson turned a muff of a pass by Haynes into the touchdown that put the Jets ahead to stay.

The Jets boosted their lead to 20-7 near the end of the quarter on Dick Wood's 20-yard pass to Bake Turner, but Haynes put the Chiefs back in contention one play later when he broke out of a host of tacklers and raced 80 yards for a touchdown.

Midway through the final period, Paulson snared another Dawson pass on the Kansas City 45. Two plays later, Wood hit Matt Snell with a short flip, and Snell rambled 35 yards to complete a 41-yard scoring play.

The Jets had built a 6-0 halftime lead on two 36-yard field goals by Jim Turner.

Fred Joyce Gets Golden Helmet Award

Signifies Terps' Outstanding Player

Fred Joyce, former Fort Hill High School gridiron great, was honored yesterday on Maryland coach Tom Nugent's television show by being presented with the Golden Helmet Award, emblematic of his being chosen as the Terrapins' football player of the year by the team's radio broadcasters.

The Cumberland boy, who wound up his collegiate football career two weeks ago in a 10-0 win over Atlantic coast conference rival Virginia, thus became the first Maryland football player to receive the award, which is donated by D. C. area bottlers of the program's soft drink sponsor.

Joyce, not one of the mammoth breed of linemen at 5-11 and a solid 200 pounds, held down a starting defensive guard post this year as he became one of the few players on the team to earn his third football letter.

Teaming with 220-pound All-American junior Jerry Fishman, Joyce helped make up perhaps the best defensive guard tandem in Maryland history. Considered by Maryland coaches as one of the toughest linemen to play at Maryland in many years, Joyce worked himself into a regular spot early in his sophomore year and has been a mainstay ever since.

Joyce, who has been compared to Bob Ward, a Terp All-America of the early 50's, adapted well to the specialized platoon play which was instituted at Maryland this year as a result of the liberalized substitution rules. He played an important part in the Terps' winning their final three games of the year and finishing with a 5-5 record.

Joyce appeared on the program, seen locally, to accept the award.

Dodgers Interested In Al Kaline

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) —Detroit manager Chuck Dressen revealed Sunday the Los Angeles Dodgers have inquired about outfielder Al Kaline but received a prompt turn-down from the Tigers.

Dressen said he would be interested in Frank Howard of the Dodgers although he was not interested in letting Kaline go.

"I know who they would offer us for Kaline, although they didn't say," declared the former Dodger manager and coach.

Cleveland Turns Breaks Into TDs, Beats Eagles

Browns Zero In On Eastern Title

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns turned three big first-half breaks into touchdowns Sunday and went on to defeat the Philadelphia Eagles 38-24 and edge closer to an Eastern Conference title.

With two games left to play, one more Cleveland victory or a loss by second-place St. Louis will give the Browns the division title.

It took only 18 seconds for the Browns to score their first touchdown as Roger Shoals recovered a fumble on the kickoff for a touchdown. The Eagles' Tim Brown fumbled on his 14, and Shoals chased the ball into the end zone and fell on it.

A blocked punt and an interception gave the Browns two touchdowns within 33 seconds in the second quarter. Sid Williams, rookie defensive end, blocked Sam Baker's punt and fell on the ball in the zone.

After the ensuing kickoff, Cleveland linebacker Jim Houston intercepted a pass by King Hill, picked up a blocker and galloped 42 yards for a touchdown.

The offensive unit didn't move the ball in to the score until the third quarter when Groza booted a 37-yard field goal.

Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan hit Johnny Brewer for touchdown passes of 13 and 24 yards to wind up the Browns' scoring.

Philadelphia quarterback Norm Snead played the second half and threw two touchdown passes, and Tim Brown scored on a 20-yard run to give the Eagles three touchdowns, but they came too late.

The Browns held the Eagles to three points, a 14-yard field goal by Sam Baker, in the first half.

Potomac Valley Conference Opens 28th Cage Season Tuesday

Gunners Slay 579 Bucks In Two Days In Allegany

Garrett Kill 430, Washington Has 346, Hunt Resumes Today

Five hundred and seventy-nine bucks fell in Allegany county before hunters' guns Friday and Saturday, the first two days of Maryland's eight-day deer season, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Three hundred and thirty-three were slain on opening day and 246 were bagged on Saturday. The all-time record for a single day's kill in Allegany county was 425 on opening day in 1960. That was a 7-day season and the total kill in Allegany hit 784.

430 Slain In Garrett

Garrett county reported 430 kills on the first two days of the season—186 on Friday and 244 Saturday. Garrett's season high is 804 and was established in 1960.

Maryland's three-county Region No. 1 total for two days jumped to 1,355 after Ken Nigro of the Hagerstown Herald reported 346 bucks were slain in Washington county. Friday's kill was 244 and Saturday's 102. The season high for Washington was 410 set in 1960.

The biggest deer reported killed in either Allegany or Garrett county was a 10-point, 181-pounder checked at the Grantsville station.

Minke stated there were quite a few illegal kills in Allegany county. Most of those apprehended for violations were for improper licenses. Former residents who have lived out of the county more than six months must purchase a non-resident license for $25 and can't hunt with a resident license which costs only $5. Violators of this law must pay a fine of $50.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Babe Parilli passed for three touchdowns and Ross O'Hanley streaked 47 yards on a pass interception for another as Boston downed Houston 34-17 in an American Football League game Sunday.

The Patriots' victory — their fourth in a row—preserved their outside chance for the Eastern Division championship.

The wide-open passing game saw the Oiler quarterbacks — George Blanda and Don Trull — pass for 379 yards, completing 27 of 48.

Parilli led Boston's passing attack with 336 yards, hitting on 20 of 36 attempts.

Parilli's touchdown passes came on 26, 80 and 20-yard maneuvers.

Gino Cappelletti kicked field goals of 28 and 15 yards and made all four conversions to wrap up Boston's scoring.

Jurgensen Leads 'Skins Over Giants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sonny Jurgensen pitched for four touchdowns and rookie Paul Krause set an interception record Sunday as Washington rolled over New York 36-21.

Jurgensen tossed scoring passes of 17 and 32 yards to Bobby Mitchell, 14 yards to Preston Carpenter and 24 yards to Charley Taylor. This boosted his season's total to 24 touchdown passes, high for the National Football League.

In all, Jurgensen connected on 24 of 43 passes for 319 yards with no interceptions.

Krause ran his season's total to 12 interceptions with two more and set an NFL record by picking off enemy passes in seven consecutive games.

The Redskins started off as though they would win in a walk, moving 73 yards in nine plays for a score the first time they got the ball. Jurgensen hit Carpenter for the touchdown.

Early in the second quarter the Giants marched 80 yards to tie the score, with Gary Wood bucking over from the one.

The Giants moved ahead a few minutes later, with Joe Morrison sprinting 15 yards for a touchdown.

A 31-yard field goal by Jim Martin and Jurgensen's 24-yard touchdown pass to Taylor put the Redskins back in front.

But the Giants got a cheap touchdown when Joe Hernandez fumbled a punt and New York took over on the Washington 28. On the second play, Wood passed nine yards to Aaron Thomas for the score.

Then the Redskin defense shook the ball loose from Wood on the New York 17 and Jurgensen tossed to Mitchell to put Washington ahead to stay

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ◇	2 ♣	Pass
Pass	Double	3 ♣	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♣

North's aggressiveness during the auction thrust a game contract on his somewhat reluctant partner; however, careful management of the combined assets would have enabled South to come home a winner.

North opened the bidding with one diamond and East chose to overcall with two clubs. This was passed around to North who now doubled to elicit some action from his partner. East bid three clubs in order to make it more difficult for his opponents to get together. South was glad to be relieved of the obligation to speak; however, his partner repeated the double. Observe that, even at this relatively high level, the double is primarily for take-out inasmuch as South has not yet taken any action.

South dutifully responded in his best suit by bidding three spades. North persisted to four spades despite the fact that he had dragged his partner into the bidding — perhaps against the latter's will. North reasoned — somewhat optimistically—that, if South has a five card spade suit headed by the queen, there would be a reasonable play for game.

West opened the seven of clubs. East won the first trick with the king and continued with the ace, forcing the dummy to ruff. South tested the trumps by cashing the ace of spades, and then he switched to the king of diamonds. East ducked and declarer now chose to play a second high trump from dummy.

When East showed out of spades, South was in trouble. He shifted back to diamonds; however, East put up the ace and returned a third club to force out North's last trump as West discarded his remaining diamond. Declarer led a high diamond from dummy in order to dispose of his last club. West ruffed and a heart return enabled East to cash the ace for the setting trick.

There was no harm in playing one round of trumps; however, declarer should have completed the development of his side suits before he led another spade. If, for example, South continues with a second diamond, East will put up the ace and presumably return another club to force the dummy.

South must retain North's last spade while he drives out the ace of hearts next, or else East will cash a club trick when he is in. In other words, it is essential for declarer to preserve the dummy's trump holding as protection against the enemy's assault in clubs, until he gains full control over the proceedings. Once the red aces have been dislodged, the defense can do no further damage.

Answers Your Problems

When we arrived, the host was serving cocktails. Promptly at 7:30 p.m. (no food in sight—not even a cracker) the host hauled out the projection equipment. Twenty of us were literally trapped in the basement for three solid hours looking at home movies.

The movies were of their kids, their trips, parades and what have you. It went back to 1936 and even took in his career in the Army. The equipment went on the bum several times and the film tore. Some of the men got dead drunk, in self-derense. I was so hungry my head was breaking. My husband was practically frothing at the mouth.

How can people protect themselves against this sort of thing? Please advise.

—PARALIZED EYEBALLS

Dear Eyeballs: Some home movies are great entertainment —for those who are interested. A host and hostess who plan such an evening should inform the guests in advance. Guests who are NOT forewarned should use their heads and sit in the back of the room — near the door.

If you leave (quietly) phone the hostess the next day and say, "We don't care for home movies." I doubt that you'll be invited for a second showing.

Confidential to IS HE OR ISN'T HE? And how would I know? Appearances can be deceiving. Some virile-looking men (the real muscle-building types) are—and some aesthetic (and even dainty) males are not.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

11 important questions before you buy an economy car:

1. DOES IT HAVE FOUR DOORS? It should so you and your family can get in and out without crawling all over one another.

2. WILL IT DELIVER AN HONEST 35 M.P.G.? Most so-called economy cars strain to give you 20 to 22 m.p.g.

3. IS IT EQUIPPED WITH DISC BRAKES? Disc Brakes are safer than drum brakes, will last longer, aren't affected by water or usage.

4. WILL IT HOLD AT LEAST FOUR ADULTS COMFORTABLY AND DOES IT HAVE REAL BUCKET SEATS IN FRONT? Bucket seats fit your body, make driving safer and more comfortable.

5. CAN IT ACCELERATE FROM 0 TO 50 M.P.H. IN 9.8 SECONDS OR LESS? You don't have to be in the middle of the pack with an economy car.

6. DOES IT HAVE ADVANCED ENGINEERING LIKE RACK AND PINION STEERING AND 4-WHEEL INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION? These are the newest advances in automotive steering and suspension. They aren't holdovers from an earlier day.

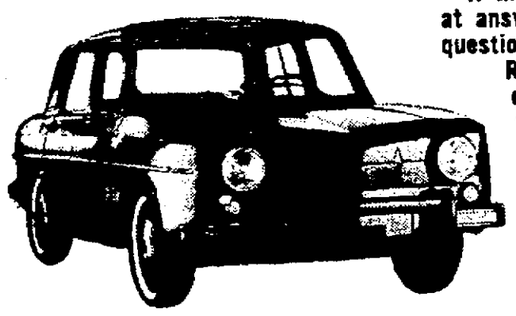
7. DOES IT HAVE AMPLE POWER IN EVERY DRIVING SPEED? The cutest cars stop being cute when you can't get around a big truck on a long hill.

8. DOES IT HAVE COAST-TO-COAST SERVICE AND IN-STOCK PARTS? This is important when you take long trips and need work done quickly.

9. ARE YOU COVERED BY AN HONEST, UNCOMPLICATED WARRANTY FOR AT LEAST A YEAR? Be sure you don't need a lawyer to decipher the small print.

10. DO YOU HAVE A CHOICE OF STICK SHIFT OR MODERN PUSHBUTTON AUTOMATIC? If you prefer a stick shift, make sure it's synchromesh in all four forward speeds.

11. DOES IT HAVE ENOUGH LUGGAGE SPACE? The first time you buy a heavy load of groceries or take a weekend trip, you'll curse the car that doesn't.



If the new car you're looking at answers "yes" to all twelve questions, it's the all-new Renault R-8 1100. No other family economy car answers "yes" to even most of them. It is possible they might in another five years or so.

If you're looking for excitement in a new and different car, come in and take a demonstration drive.

Bowling Green Sewer Rules Are Enacted

Sanitary Unit Adopts Ordinance

An ordinance regulating the use of public and private sewers and drains and the discharge of waters and wastes into the public sewer system of the Bowling Green Sanitary District has been adopted unanimously by the Allegany County Sanitary Commission.

This ordinance, the first adopted by the seven-man commission, also will become effective in the Cresaptown Sanitary District when its sewage treatment plant and system are completed and in operation. The Bowling Green treatment plant and system were placed in operation October 2.

Article I of the ordinance provides two pages of definitions. Article II concerns the uses of public sewers. The first section under this article states that no person shall discharge or cause to be discharged any storm water, surface water, ground water, roof runoff, subsurface drainage or unpolluted industrial process waters to any sanitary sewer.

The next section gives representatives of the commission the right to require certain users to dispose of wastes otherwise and prevent the wastes from entering the system where the character of the sewage from any manufacturer or industrial plant, building or other premises in such that it will damage the system and cannot be treated satisfactorily in the system.

Prohibited Wastes

This section goes on to enumerate certain matters, waters or wastes which may not be discharged into the sewer or drainage system of the sanitary district or indirectly except under certain specific provisions.

The following are included:

Any liquid or vapor having a temperature higher than 150 degrees; any water or waste which may contain more than 100 part per million by weight of fat, oil or grease; any gasoline, benzine, naphtha, fuel oil or other inflammable or explosive liquid, solid or gas; any garbage that has not been properly shredded.

Also, any ashes, cinders, sand, mud, straw, shavings, metal, glass, rags, feathers, tar, plastics, wood, paunch manure, or other solid or viscous substances capable of causing obstruction to the flow in sewers, or other interference with the proper operation of the sewage works, and any wastes or waters containing suspended or dissolved solids of such character and quantity that unusual attention or expense is required to handle such materials at the sewage treatment plant or in the public sewage works.

Also, any noxious or malodorous gas or substance capable of creating a public nuisance; any waters or wastes having a pH lower than 5.5 or higher than 10.0, or having any other corrosive property capable of causing damage or hazard to structures, equipment and personnel of the sewage works, and any water or wastes containing a toxic or poisonous substance such as plating or heat treating wastes in sufficient quantity to injure or interfere with any sewage treatment prices, to constitute a hazard to humans or animals, or to create any hazard in the receiving waters of the sewage treatment plant.

Other prohibited uses include any cyanide greater than one part per million; any hexavalent chromium greater than one part per million; any trivalent chromium greater than 10 parts per million, any copper greater than one part per million; any nickel greater than one part per million; any cadmium greater than one part per million; any zinc greater than one part per million, any phenols greater than 12 parts per million, any iron greater than five parts per million, any tin greater than one parts per million and any radioactive wastes greater than allowable releases as specified by current United States Bureau of Standards handbooks on the subject.

Statement Required

Section 203 of the new ordinance requires the filing with the commission a written statement where the operation of a person, firm or corporation entails the discharge

Jawbone Reveals Age

Theodore Thoerig, right, research technician for Natural Resources Institute, prepares to examine the jawbone of a 95-pound deer to determine its age while the successful hunter, Charles P. Roeder, assists. The jawbone examination is being conducted at all Western Maryland tracking stations during the current season as part of a NRI survey to make a comparative study of the age of the deer killed in all parts of the state this season. Mr. Roeder bagged his deer Friday, opening day, on Wills Mountain, and reported his kill at the LaVale State Police Barracks.

Resources Unit Conducts Age Survey Of Deer Kill

The jawbones of all deer killed in Western Maryland during the current season are being examined as part of a survey conducted by the Natural Resources Institute to make a comparative study of the age of deer killed throughout the state.

The deer aging survey, a pet project of Dr. Vagn Flyzer, assistant director of the Natural Resources Institute of the University of Maryland, has been conducted over the past 15 years and approximately every three years in Western Maryland. Last year the survey was taken on the Eastern Shore.

Theodore Thoerig, research technician for the Natural Resources Institute here, said personnel are stationed at each tracking station in Western Maryland to examine the jawbones of deer killed in order to determine the age.

The researcher marks the deer's weight on the jawbone and the bones are then taken to the laboratory where the comparative study will be made of the age and weights of Western Maryland deer with those killed in other sections of the state.

The survey has provided much information on the ways deer feed and develop in each area and what the food value and weight should be.

In other sections of the state it has been found that ages and weights of deer are much higher than those in Allegany and Garrett counties. For example, deer killed on the Eastern Shore may range from 20 to 30 pounds heavier than those killed in Western Maryland.

The Eastern Shore is a good food area for deer, but the browsing area in Western Maryland has declined over the past several years as the deer herd has increased.

Dr. Vagn Flyzer marked deer at the Carroll Sport Shop in Oakland for the survey, Mr. Thoerig is stationed at the LaVale State Police Barracks. Located at other tracking stations are Richard Reppert, fish biologist, Grantsville; Donald Langley, Shipway's; Paul Herndon, NHI public relations, Hoffman's Restaurant, and James Mallow, forester, Ankeney's, Clear Spring.

Hearing Today On Control Of WM Railway

One of the most important factors in the future of both the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is the inclusion of the Western Maryland Railway into the system, Roger J. Tuohy, chairman and president of the B&O, has announced.

The C&O-B&O will go before the Interstate Commerce Commission today to seek authorization to acquire control of the Western Maryland.

The C&O got control of B&O through stock purchases.

Vigorous opposition will be expressed at today's hearing at 9:30 a. m. in Washington from the various railroad brotherhoods and communities along the Western Maryland lines.

Mr. Tuohy has announced that the B&O will end 1964 with a net from $7,000,000 to $7,500,000.

Business lost as a result of the General Motors strike and retroactive wage increases that are higher than previously expected affected earlier forecasts of greater earnings for the year.

Mr. Tuohy, who also is chief executive officer of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, which controls B & O, said the working capital position of B & O, though still not in the black, continues to show improvement. "I have every confidence that 1965 will show another step in our program of building the earning power and strengthening the financial position of B & O," Mr. Tuohy said.

He reported that the outlook for

Third Eclipse Of Moon In A Year To Occur Dec. 18

The third total eclipse of the moon within a year, and the last one for the next several years, will occur on Friday evening, December 18.

In an article published in the December issue of the Maryland Academy of Sciences Newsletter, Paul S. Watson says that the eclipse will begin at 7:01 p. m. on the evening of December 18, but that it will not be noticeable until almost an hour later.

The moon will be completely in the earth's shadow, according to Mr. Watson, who is curator of astronomy for the Academy, for exactly one hour—from 9:07 p. m. until 10:07 p. m. . . .During the period of the total eclipse, the astronomer said the moon may be invisible to the unaided eye.

He said that the moon usually shines with a reddish or copper-colored light during an eclipse due to refraction, or bending, of sunlight into the earth's shadow by the atmosphere. For many years before this explanation was known, this phenomenon was known as "blood on the moon."

However, Mr. Watson pointed out the moon appears quite dim during a total eclipse, when unusual cloudiness or great quantities of dust in the atmosphere, from the eruption of active volcanoes, cut off the bent sun rays. On rare occasions, in fact, the moon can disappear almost completely to the unaided eye.

This happened during the eclipse of last December 30, Mr. Watson recalled, and the brilliant full moon faded into invisibility. At the eclipse of June 24, local astronomers were unable to determine how dark the moon appeared because the eclipse occurred before the end of evening twilight. Reports from other locations indicated that it was a dark eclipse.

Cause of the two unusual eclipses was a volcanic eruption in the East Indies during 1963, Mr. Watson said. It is not known whether this high altitude dust is still present, he added.

Postmaster Offers Christmas Mailing Tips

The cooperation of all mailers is essential for the Post Office to deliver each holiday card, letter and package before Christmas day. Postmaster William B. Orndorff suggested yesterday that a little planning during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend will make the anticipated Christmas rush less hectic for everyone.

The Post Office Department predicts that a record seven billion pieces of mail will move through the postal system during the peak rush just before Christmas. Postmaster Orndorff offers some tips that will help employes move the "mountain of mail."

First he suggests that last year's mailing list be brought up today, checking to see that all addresses are correct and wherever possible add the ZIP code to addresses on the list.

Mr. Orndorff stressed that poorly wrapped and loosely packed cartons are the major cause of parcel post damage. He suggested that addresses be written on only one side of the exterior wrapping and that a duplicate address be included inside the carton, in case the outer covering is not secure and comes off.

George Street Project Will Affect Traffic

Loop Route And Subway Included

Two projects included in the George Street urban renewal project proposal would have a significant effect upon the traffic in Downtown Cumberland.

They include the construction of the first phase of a loop road system running along the eastern perimeter as part of a complete loop street. As proposed in the city's comprehensive plan, this loop system would provide access to and egress from the central business district and would be tied in with the Cumberland Thruway project.

The other is the relocation of Frederick Street in connection with the construction of an underpass which would carry traffic under the new loop street, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and Henderson Avenue and return to grade near the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Decatur Street.

Must Be Rezoned

Mr. DeMare said the plan also calls for the dedication, by the City of Cumberland, of certain streets, alleys and rights of way needed for public purposes.

The plan also calls for the construction of a new street between the loop road and North George Street, north of Baltimore Street.

The construction and reconstruction of sanitary and storm water sewers in the project is included, along with similar treatment of other utilities.

The plan, Mr. DeMare said, proposes certain zoning changes which would aid in the re-use of land. Plans call for using the area for residential, commercial, retail commercial, parking and light industrial purposes.

It also proposes the acquisition of certain parcels of land, the removal of most existing structures and the reconstruction of new facilities in conformity with the Urban Renewal plan.

It sets forth certain obligations on prospective developers who may be interested in the area, in that they must follow the guidelines set forth in the plan.

The plan calls for acquiring 45 of the 60 parcels of property in the project area.

Requests Funds

To carry out the plan, the agency has asked the Housing and Home Finance Agency for a grant of $4,030,594 and a loan of $5,117,188.

The George Street project is the first of a number involved in the larger Center City program, which calls for a long-term general neighborhood renewal of all land between the railroads from the Narrows to Williams Street.

Mr. DeMare told the Mayor's Advisory Board recently that the George Street project should be completed in the 1965-1969 period, that the second project would run from 1966 through 1970 and that the last stage would be in its execution stage between 1970 and 1975.

Civil Air Patrol Units Are Observing CAP Week

Cumberland senior and cadet squadrons of the Civil Air Patrol will take part this week in the national observance of CAP Week, which begins today.

Cadet members have been asked to wear their uniforms to school to call attention to the work of the CAP and its training program for boys and girls of high school age.

A highlight of the week's observance will be an official visit on Thursday night to the cadet squadron by Lt. Col. Carl Carty of Hagerstown, commander of Group 5, which includes the Cumberland units.

Lt. Col. Carty may be accompanied by Col. William Patterson, Maryland Wing commander, and other staff officers from Wing headquarters.

The class of about 130 cadets is in the final stages of the initial phase of training, and a new class will open Thursday, December 10.

Boys and girls between 13 and 18 years of age who are interested in joining the cadet squadron are invited to attend the unit's meeting this Thursday at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Brown Avenue, said Lt. Daniel McMullen, commandant of cadets.

Pool Room Theft Being Probed Here

City police yesterday were investigating the breaking and theft of cigarettes and money from Bill's Place, 526 Pine Avenue, over Saturday night.

Detective Frank Bohn, who investigated, said the owner, William Leake, reported he closed the pool room between 5 and 6 p.m. Saturday.

Yesterday morning the owner found two bars had been pried off a rear window by an intruder who entered the place.

Police were told about 10 cartons of cigarettes were taken from a shelf and about 20 more from the stockroom. Also taken were about $20 in cash from a cash drawer.

Police said the intruder left by a rear door and added that the night light was not on when the owner left the place.

Also being investigated was the theft of two hubcaps from the car of Marie Smith, 17 North Chase Street, as it was parked in front of her home during the night.

Abandoned Car Ordinance Is Asked By Board

Wrecks Spotted On City Map

The Board of Health of the City of Cumberland will ask the city attorney to attend its next meeting and to brief members on the legal aspects to the problem of ridding the city of abandoned vehicles.

The request was forwarded by Mayor Earl D. Chaney to City Solicitor Hugh A. McMullen, who was also asked to bring with him model ordinances on abandoned cars.

Two such ordinances are already on file—a model national ordinance on the subject and the ordinance which the City of Rockville has been using to meet the problem.

Legal authority may also be provided in the 1965 General Assembly, as the Maryland Municipal League on June 9 adopted a resolution asking a state-wide bill under which municipalities could dispose of abandoned cars or trucks.

The board also asked the cooperation of all citizens in reporting the location of any abandoned cars or trucks within the city limits. The location of each abandoned car is being spotted on a map by the Engineering Department.

Dr. Arthur F. Jones, acting Allegany County health officer, said abandoned cars are listed as nuisances in the state health code and that legal authority to abate the nuisance might be found in the state code.

Mayor Earl D. Chaney, board chairman, pointed out that cars parked on city streets are a problem and should be taken off the streets.

A partial solution to that problem is provided in the present zoning ordinance, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum reported, in that owners must satisfy the board that space for off-street parking is provided. He added that 90 per cent of the abandoned cars are in vacant lots.

Export Information Will Be Supplied

Direct assistance to Maryland businessmen with export problems will be offered by the newly opened Baltimore field office of the U. S. Department of Commerce in the U. S. Customs House there.

Interested businessmen may contact Carroll F. Hopkins, director of the new facility which will make available current export regulations, market studies, freight forwarding data and new export classification information.

Professor To Speak

Dr. George L. Yaney, professor of Russian history and western civilization at the University of Maryland, will speak to the Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting Tuesday at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. He will discuss Russia and its relationship with China and Cuba.

ABL Employes Win Manager's Safety Prize

2,000,000 Man-Hours Without Accidents

Employes of Allegany Ballistics Plant Manager's Safety Prize for the seventh time, attaining the first plateau in a new march to new safety records.

Plant manager Lawrence B. Johnston and safety superintendent Benjamin R. Lewis said the next goal in the plant safety efforts is the Director of Operations Safety Award. The target date for winning this award is March 19, 1965.

The latest achievement by ABL employes came after 220 days and more than 2,000,000 man-hours of accident-free work, which began on April 14 this year.

As of midnight last Tuesday, employes had worked 225 accident-free days with 115 days to go to the new target date.

Mr. Johnston and Mr. Lewis lauded the employes for winning the seventh manager's prize and expressed confidence employes would continue their safety efforts and go on to win the director's award. The employes also were congratulated by C. T. Butler, director of Hercules' Chemical Propulsion Division.

CURA Asks City Heads To Sit In On Briefing

The Mayor and Council is being urged to attend a meeting of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. when plans for the George Street urban renewal project will be outlined.

The meeting will be held in the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency offices in City Hall and was called to allow the commission to consider plans for the project.

Both the Mayor and Council and the Planning Commission must approve plans for the project which is being reviewed by the Philadelphia office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of which the Public Housing Administration is a part.

William F. DeMare, executive director of CURA, will officiate at the briefing session and will be assisted by W. V. Kennedy, a member of the Simonds and Simonds team from Pittsburgh which worked out the proposal.

Karl W. Bachman, CURA board chairman, will be asked to sit in on the session, along with such members of the board as can attend.

The commission will not be asked to give immediate approval but will be given sufficient details to allow it to evaluate the proposal and to make its recommendations within the next few weeks.

Part I of the application was submitted to the HHFA recently. Part II will consist of the transcript of a public hearing and resolutions from the Mayor and Council and Planning Commission indicating approval of the plan. Any suggested changes in the original plan may also be incorporated into the Part II application package.

Council To Meet With City Units

Representatives of two city employe organizations will meet with the Mayor and Council this morning.

The meeting will be held in the office of Mayor Earl D. Chaney following the regular council meeting.

The conference was asked by Local 812, Municipal Workers Union, and the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association "to discuss some recent changes in the city's wage and classification plan."

Local 812 is expected to send a six-man delegation headed by Owen Layman, president, and Robert Meister is expected to head the three-member Police and Fire delegation.

Mr. Layman said the local wants to discuss the some 13 upward changes made in the classification shortly after the Mayor and Council granted a 15-cent increase to all city employes early this fall.

New Altar Is In Place

St. Patrick's Catholic Church recently installed this altar, placed on the sanctuary steps, facing the people, in connection with sweeping changes in the Mass placed into effect yesterday—the first Sunday of Advent— in the Archdiocese of Baltimore. About half of the new liturgy is in English and the priest faces the people. The front altar was designed by Rev. E. J. Hebert, assistant pastor, and built here of a plastic laminate which is a close match for the white marble used in the sanctuary.
